

Frank Tamony, a dedicated individual. You have been here to guide our journey through De La Salle even if at times we didn't want you to guide us. As Freshmen, we were intimidated by you and would fear contact with you. Being sent to Tam was every Freshman's nightmare. When we finally became upper classmen, realized that you were our friend and not an ogre. You proved that you truly care through your ability to put up with the stunts we would pull, and your relentless dedication to the school. For what you have given De La Salle, we dedicate this yearbook to you. Thanks.

DE LA SALLE HIGH SCHOOL

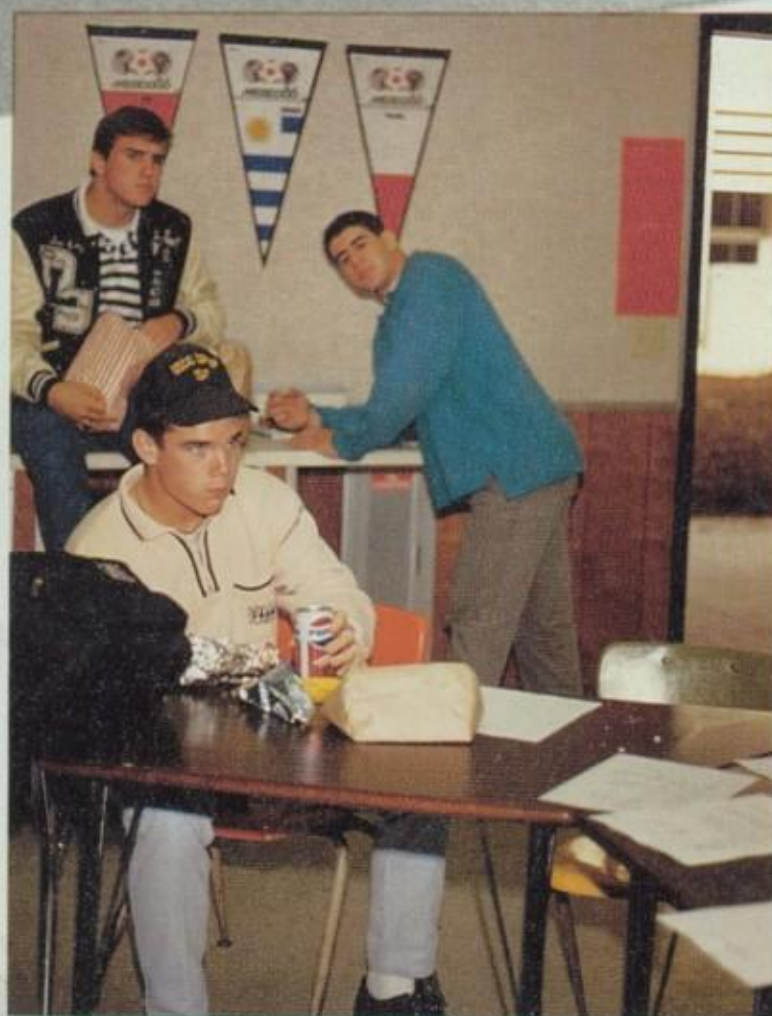

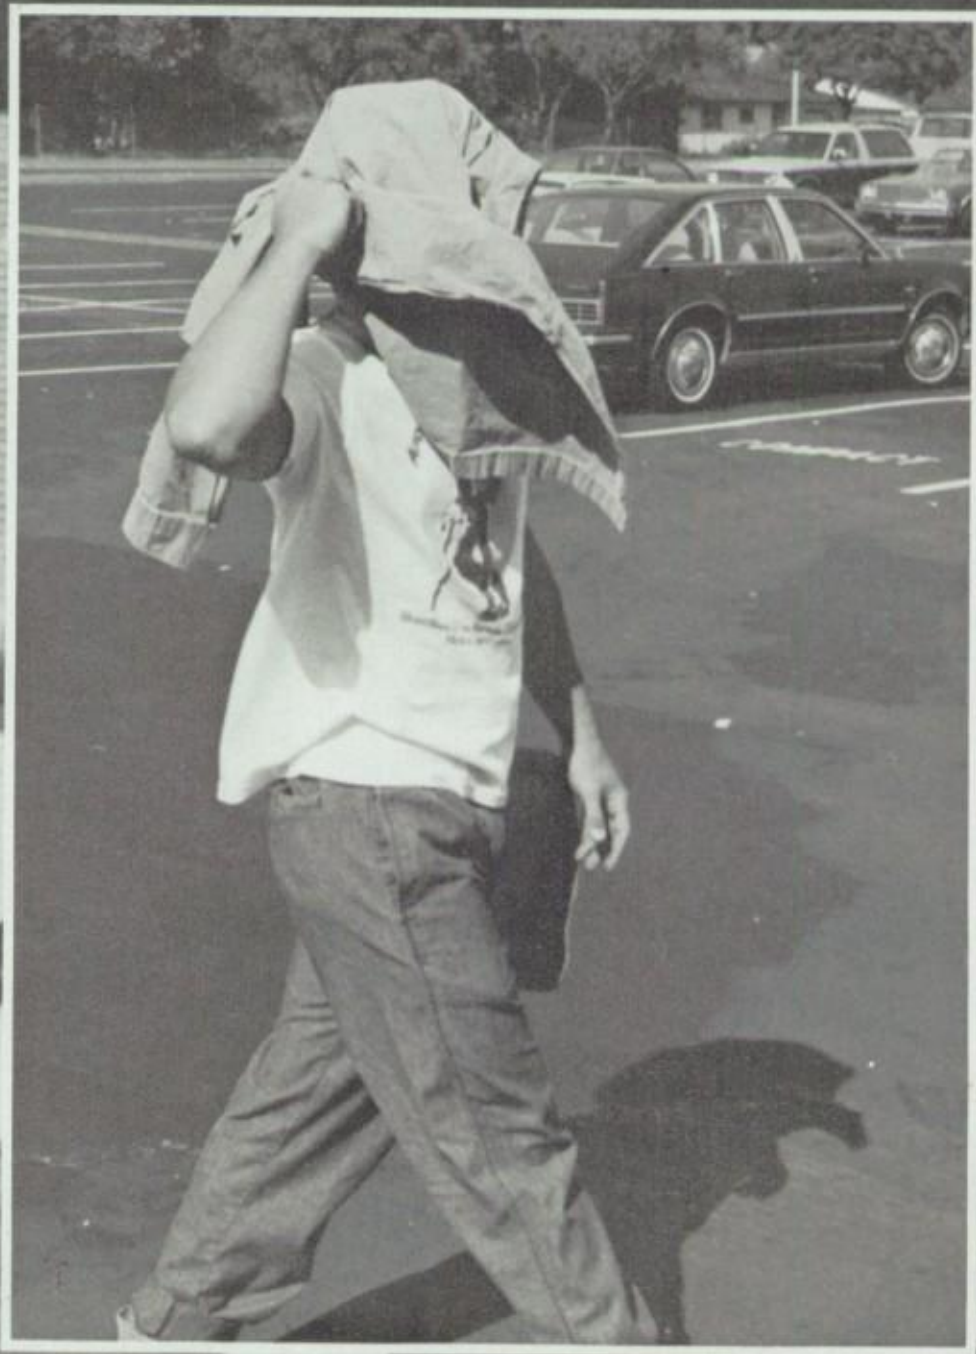

FALL FESTIVAL

During the week of October 16th, 17th, and 18th, De La Salle was transformed into a massive, all-out carnival that came to be known as the Fall Festival.

With the lights all around, the sounds ranging from laughter to screams of terror, the sports fans watching the football game, the game players at the various booths, and the rides going full tilt, the Festival was an undeniable success.

Everything from rides such as the Gravitron, to the ferris wheel, to the wheel of fortune and the dice games, to the Bingo game, to the food booths offering cuisine from all over the world, the Festival was an event where there was something for everyone.

-Dan Beck-

The ever-popular Zipper, in spite of its frightening reputation.

Dave Neary safely lands on earth with his little sister after the long ride down the slide.

The essence of pitching by Tom Buck, fastball specialist.

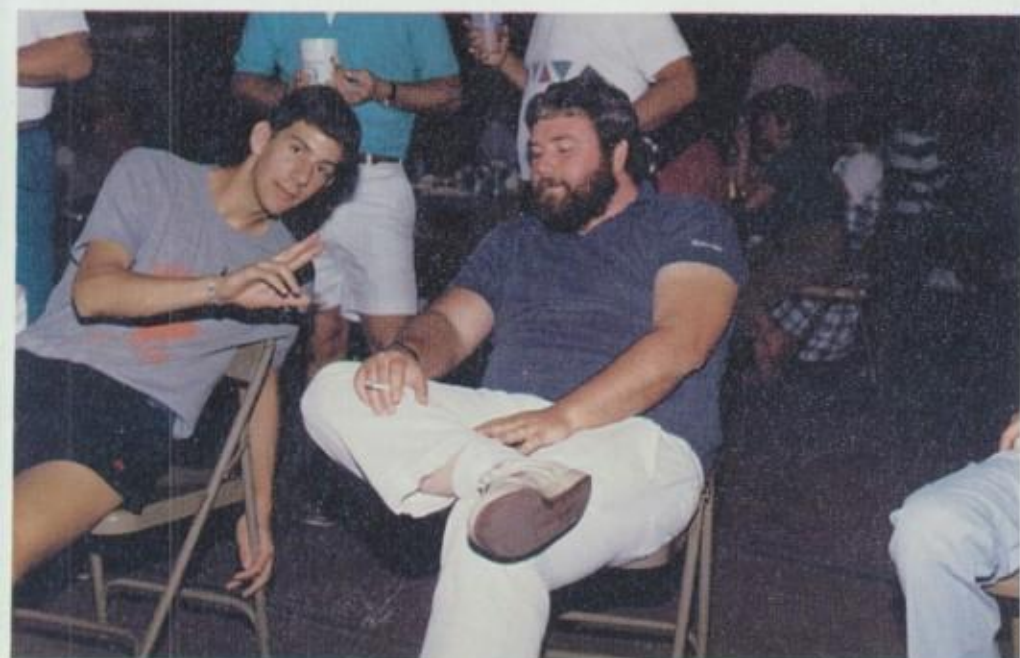

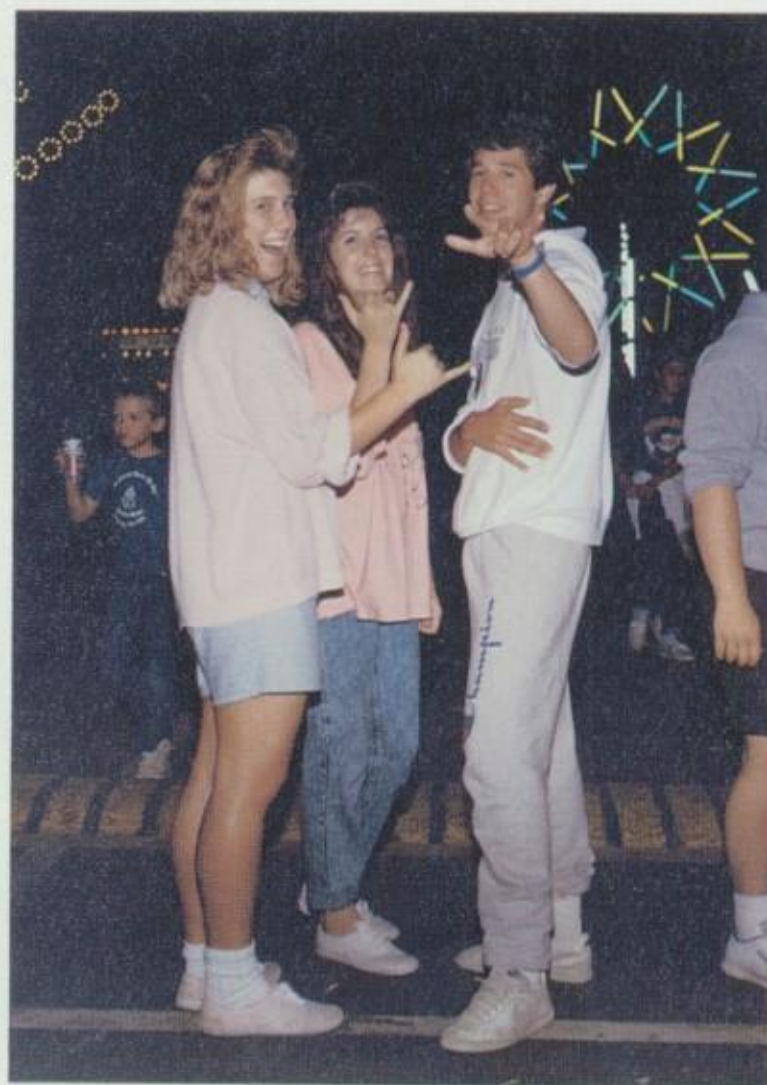

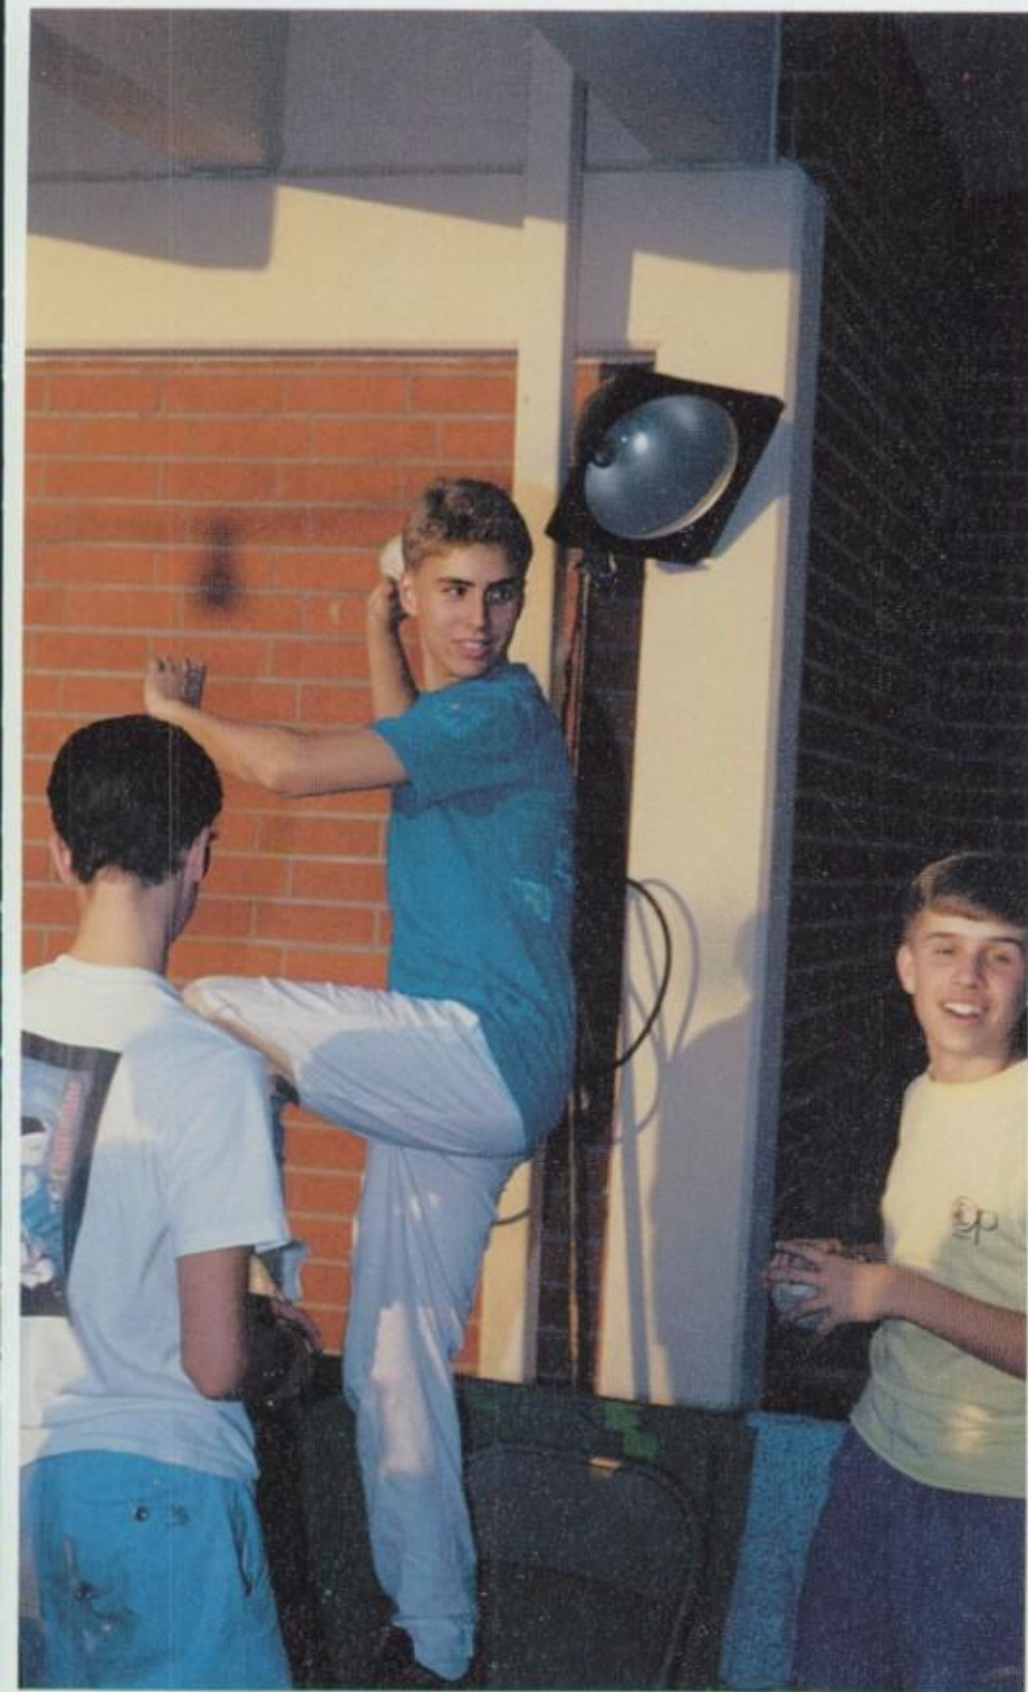

Kyle Campanelli orders another round for himself and Coach Hayes.

Eric Bakovic, Roxi Jaco, and Melissa Kelly demonstrate proper hand signaling technique in the shadow of the Fall Festival.

DE LA SALLE MARDI GRAS

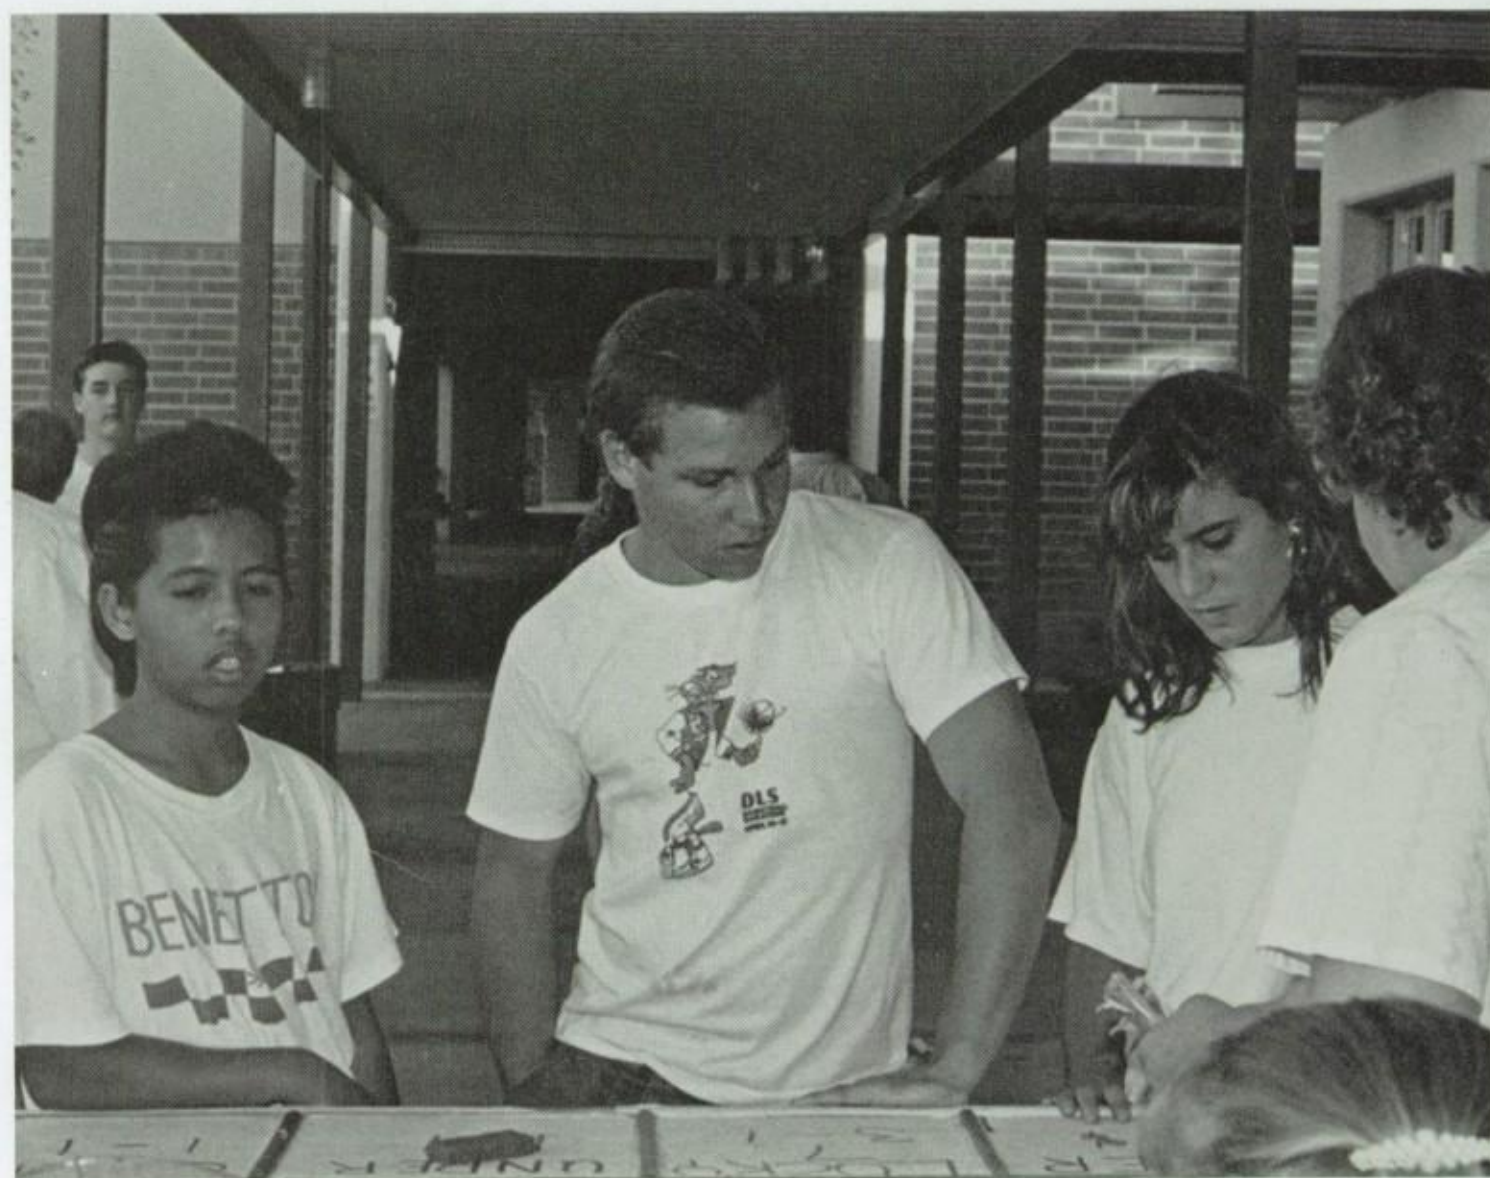

Tom Pelster amuses Angela Bruno and Debbie Palmer with his jokes about Lite Beer during a slow day at the Fall Festival.

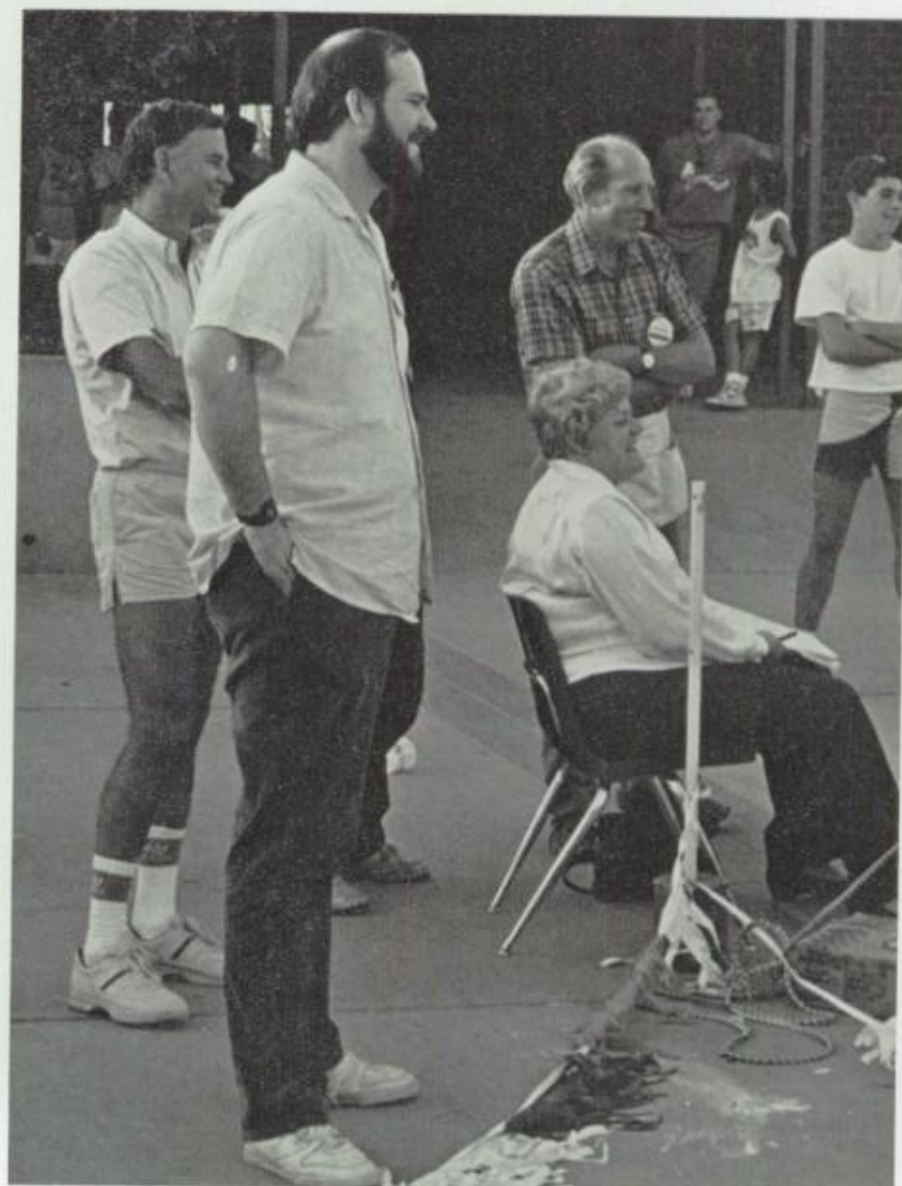

One of the major attractions of the Fall Festival are the games of chance, as this large crowd attests to.

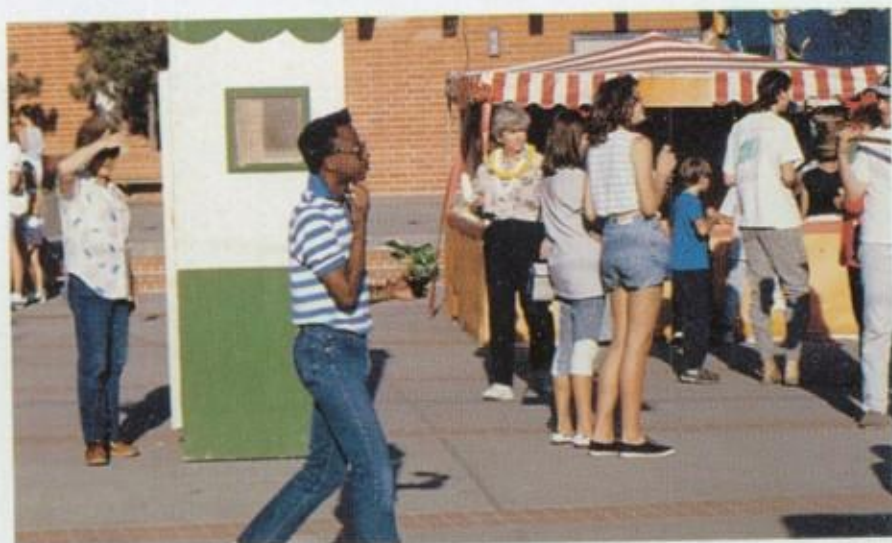

Andre Butler prepares to take on the amusements the Fall Festival has to offer.

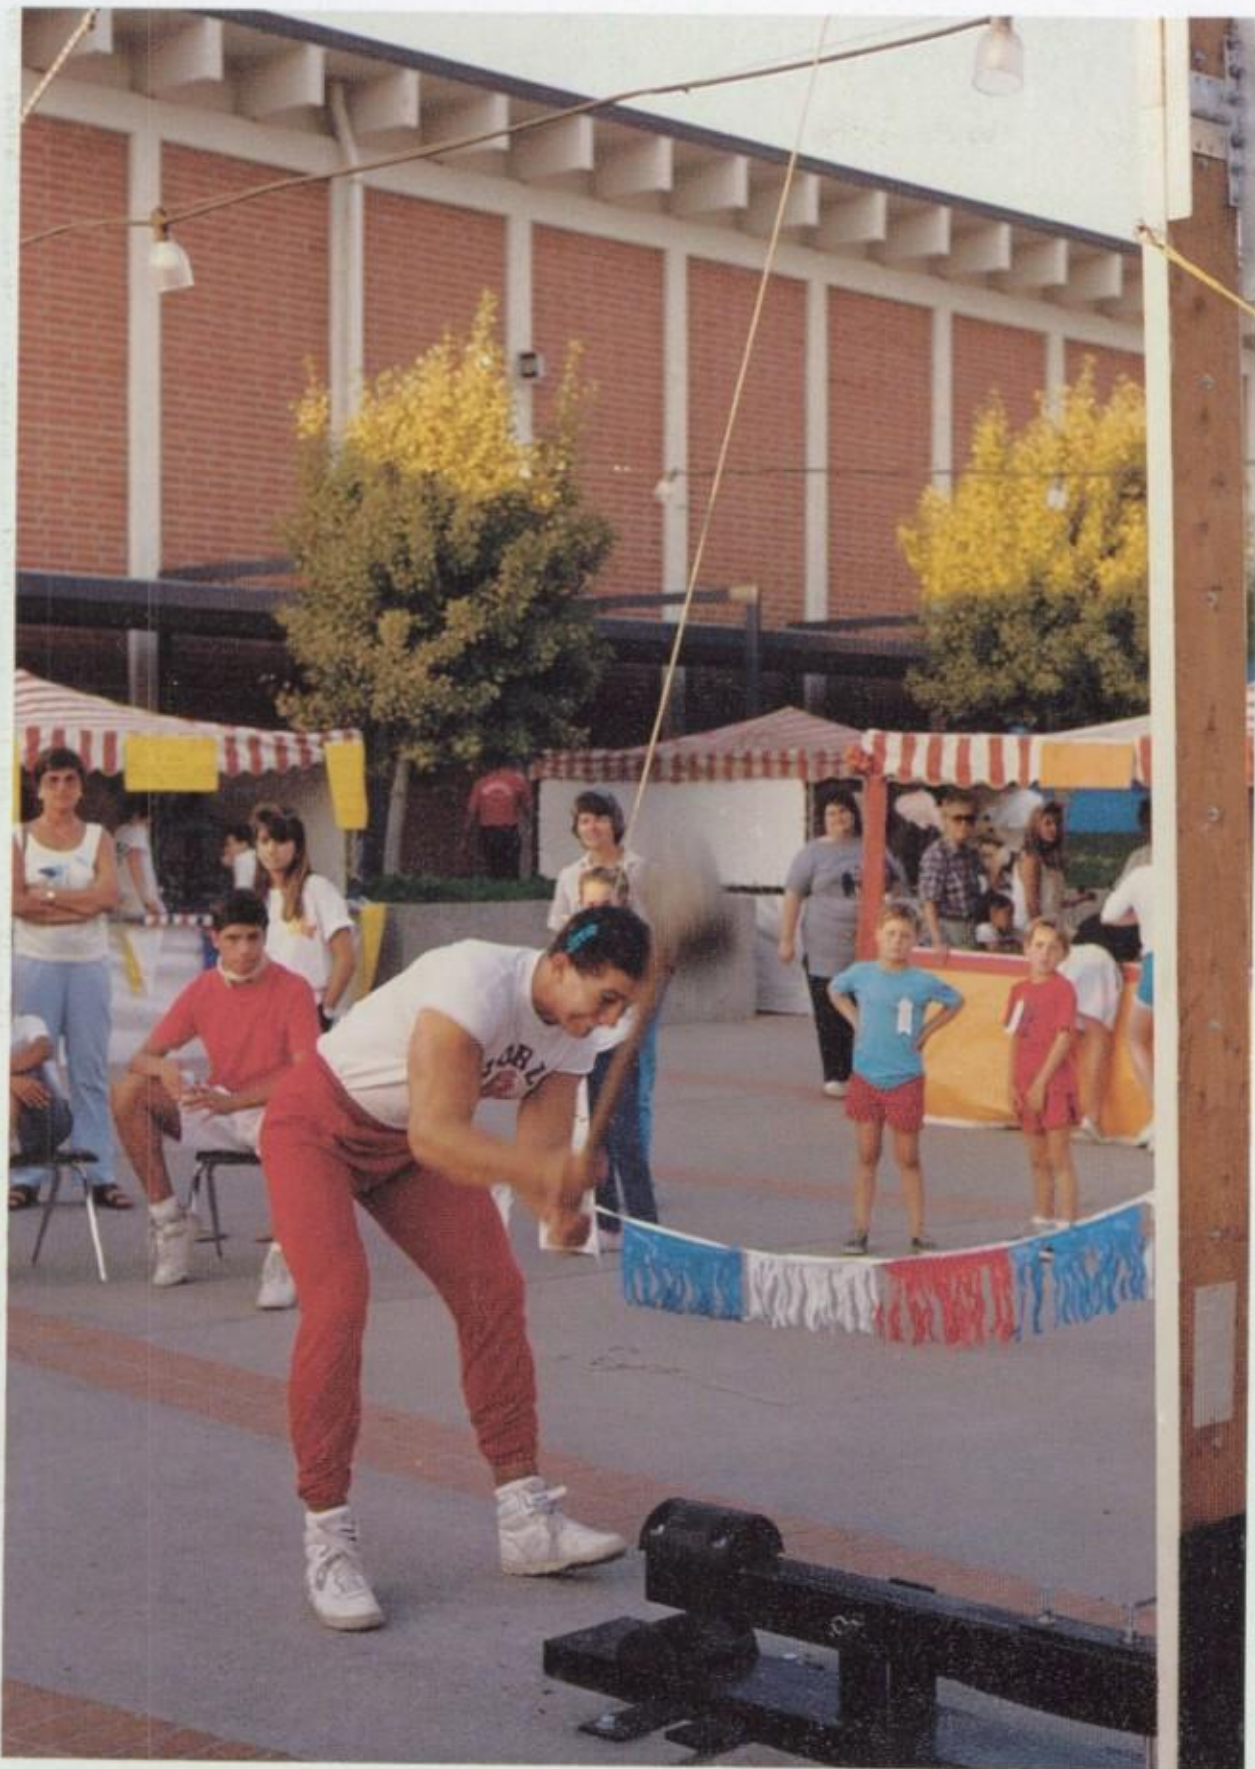

These two are obviously about to begin their fateful journey on the Zipper.

Brother Dan can't figure out where to begin, with all the Fall Festival has to offer.

Dave Bickers tries to go beyond the limit and ring the bell. There was much competition to earn this privilege, and it appears that with Dave's strength, it should be a simple matter.

Butch Akbarian proudly shows off the product of his luck at the game booths. Luck is the residue of skill, and it seems he has that skill.

Andy McDevitt victoriously emerges from the slide. Young at heart, young forever, the old saying goes.

The infamous Gravitron, yet another of the many rides at the Festival.

Claudio and Rob meet a new friend as they get ready to play Bingo.

Hey Brother Cecil, that's a nice plant you've won there.

Mr. Kelley and a friend bump away at the Festival.

BLOOD DRIVE

De La Salle has been known as a school of tradition. One of these traditions is the annual Blood Drive. This is unique among the many events of the school year because students are asked to give life and this gift generously comes from their own life.

The media center was closed to students. Inside, people were giving of themselves to their fellow brother.

Participating students received a t-shirt and warm thanks from the staff of the Alameda Contra Costa Medical Association Blood Bank in appreciation of their efforts.

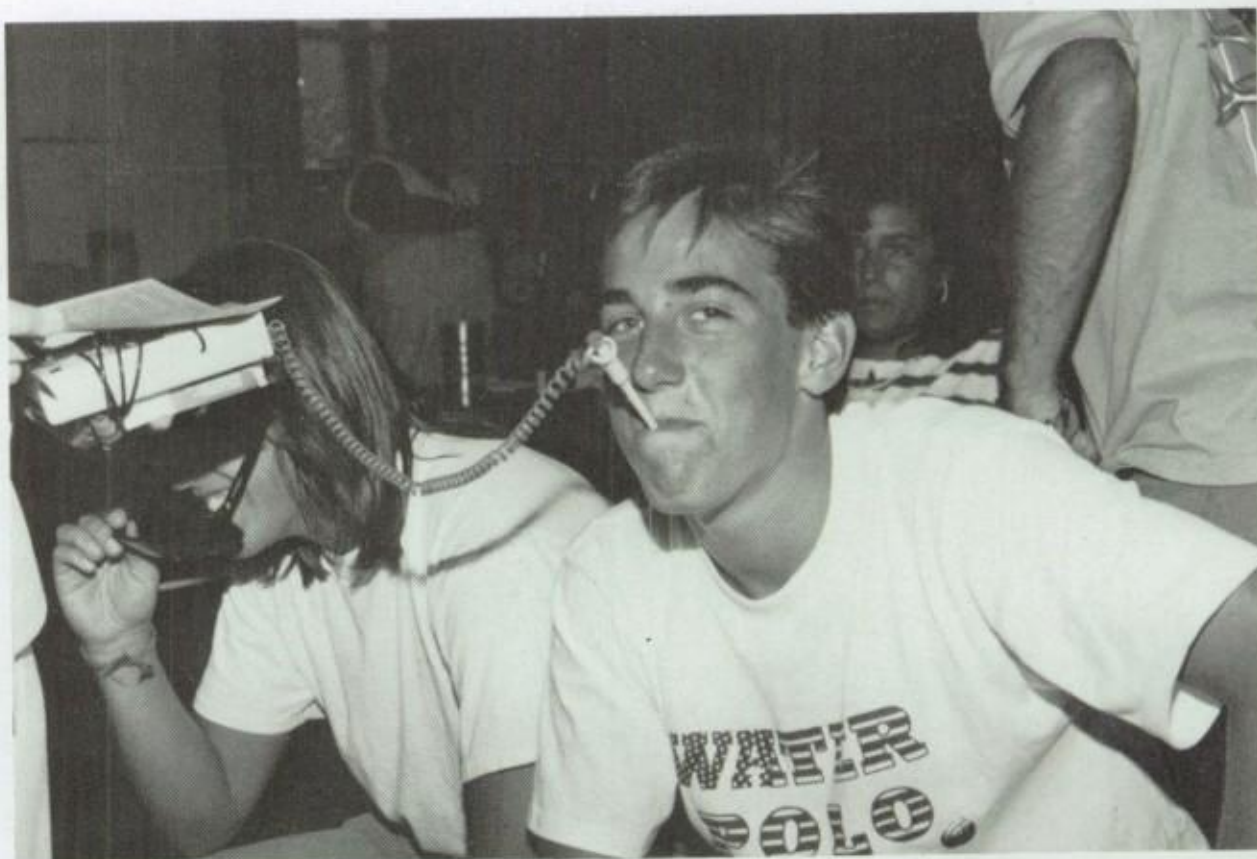

Darren Kettwig flashes a confident smile as his temperature is taken.

Gary Wilk is further in the donation process than Darren is, but he maintains the same degree of spirit.

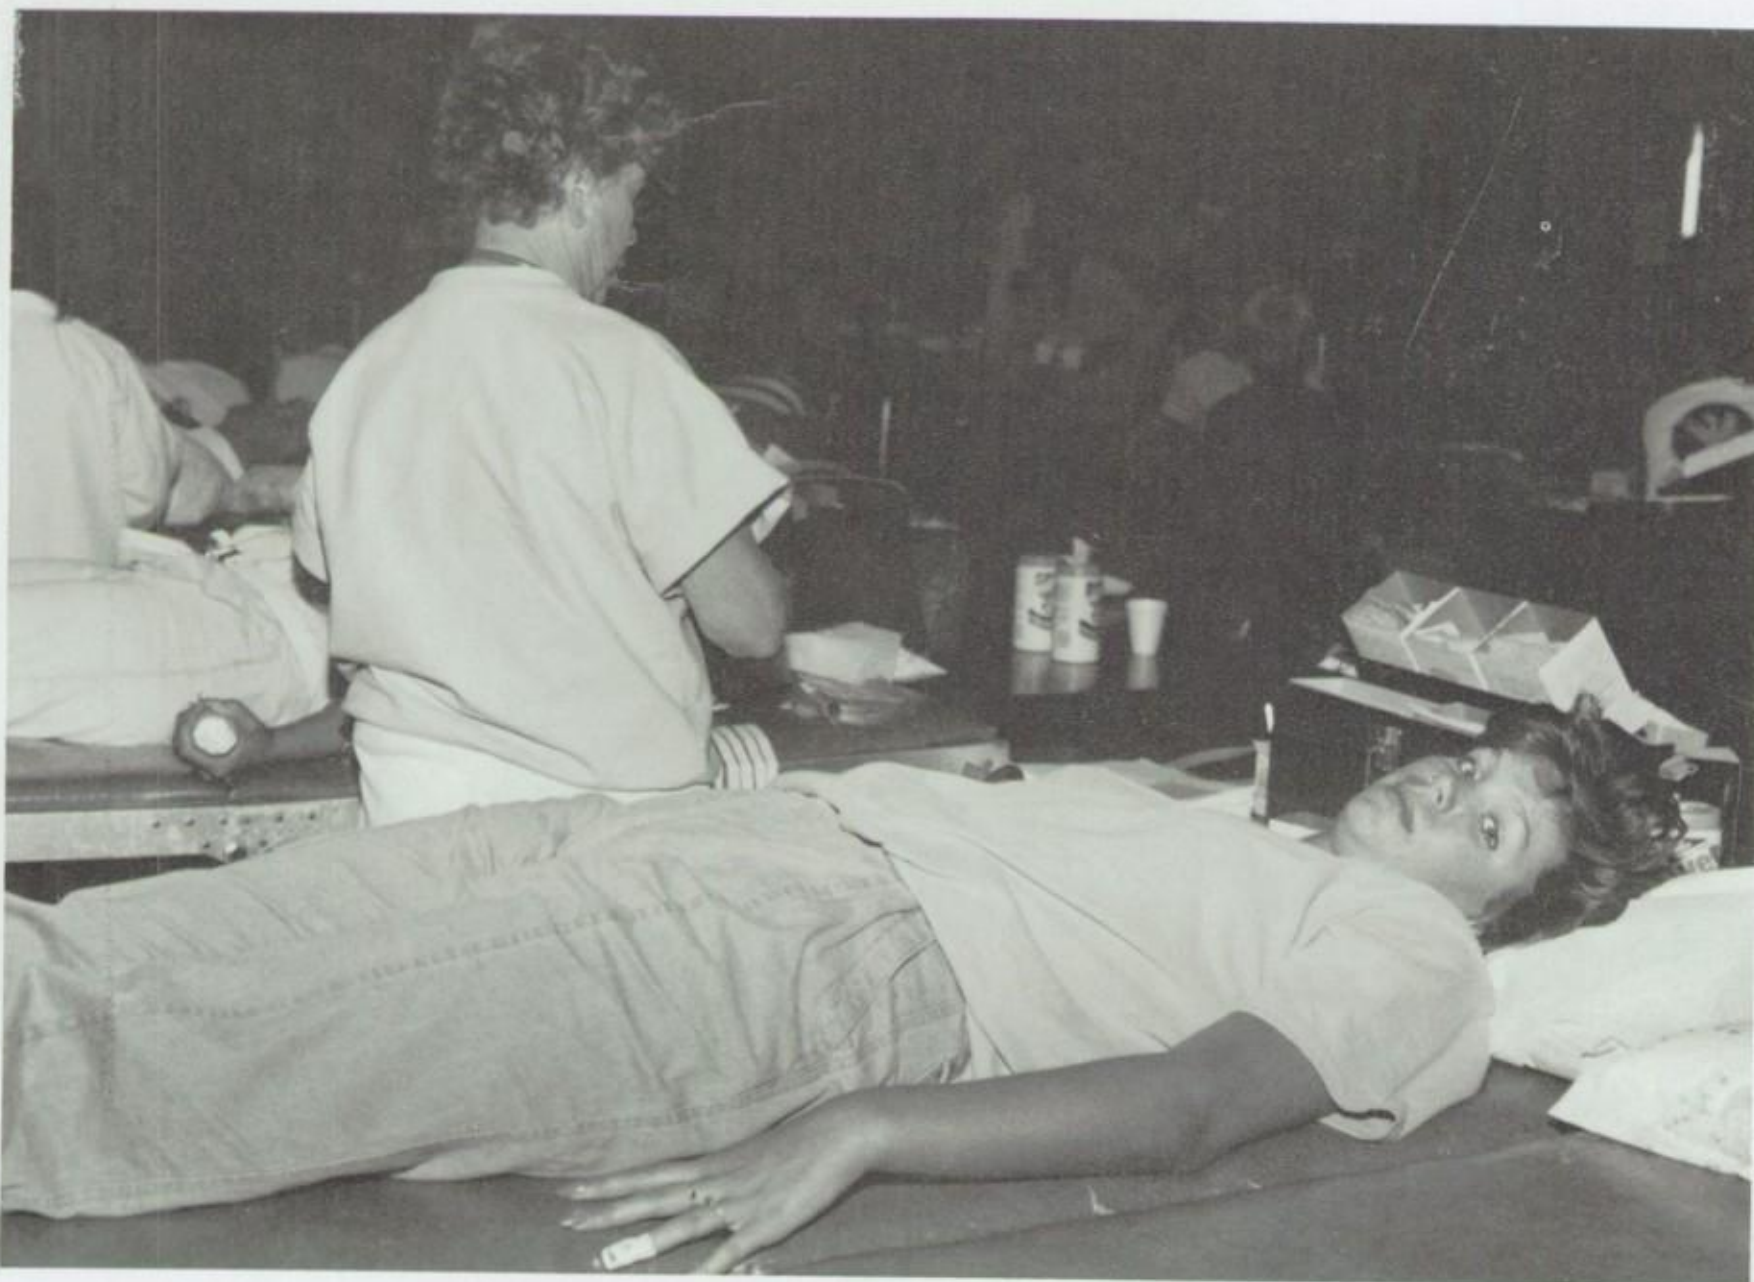

Matt Zocchi getting some R and R after giving a pint.

Steve Johnson taking another test before he donates his pint.

Hey Julie, you aren't scared, are you?

HAVE YOU GIVEN A PINT?

HALLOWEEN

Halloween. The one time in the year when people can become someone they've never been before. From ghosts and soldiers, to fairy tale characters and farmers, the costumes were creative and diverse. At the Senior Halloween Party, all this and more could be found. Sponsored by the Senior Class Council, it was complete with DJ music and dancing. The more interesting an authentic costumes were recognized with awards. The Haunted House at the entranceway set the mood, and the DLS cafeteria was transformed into a dance floor. All this translated into a great three hours for the Seniors. From beginning to end, the party was an enormous success.

-Geoff Gallagher-

Paul and Mark, a.k.a. Batman and Robin, grace the DLS cafeteria.

Csaba Linszky as a mouseketeer.

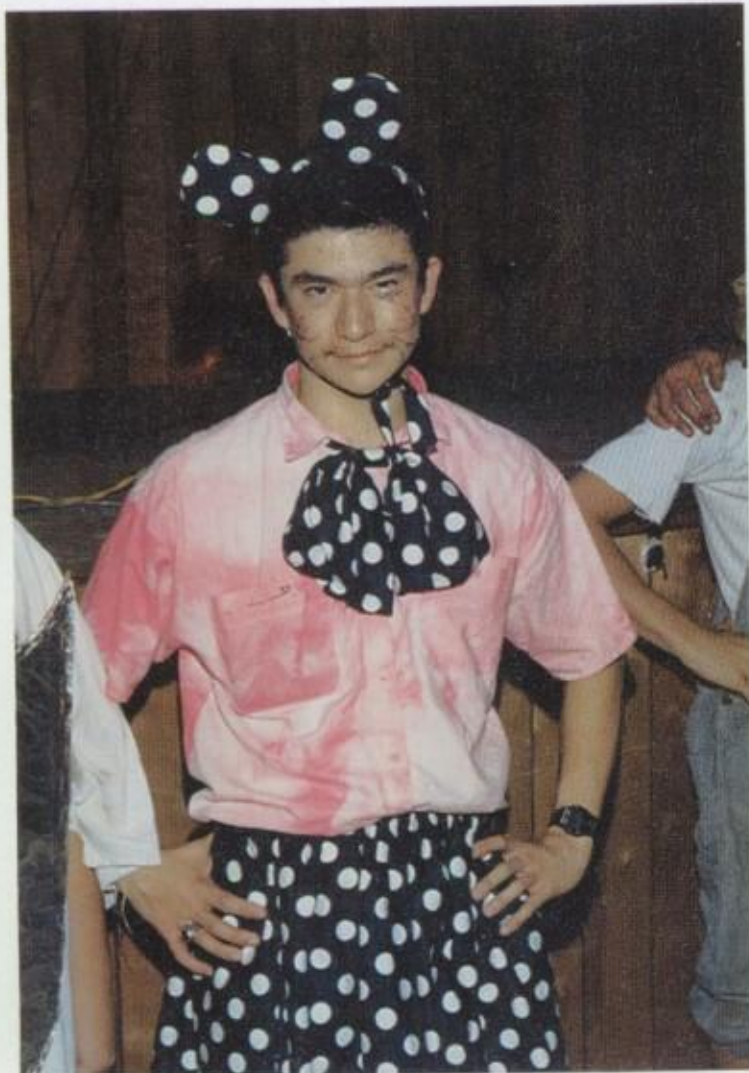

The Rambolinas.

Dan quigley, the original party animal.

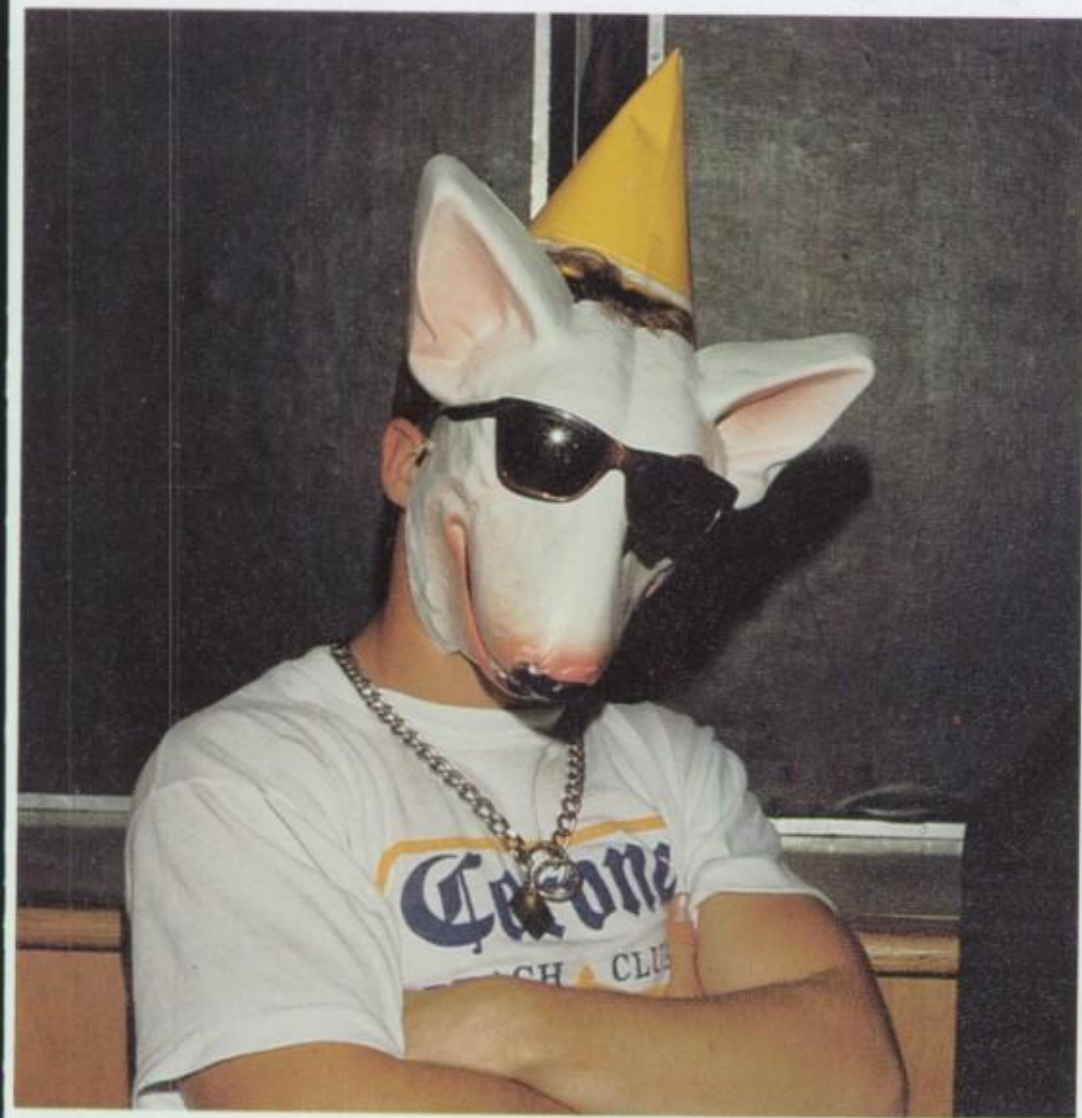

Kristen and Stacey as the Jolly Green Giant and Sprout.

Carondelet Seniors as the Crayola Crowd.

Matt and Roger, the Ragedy Andy Twins.

THE MONSTER MASH

DANCES

The music is loud and the energy level is high. Students gather together, some hand in hand, some in bands. Wall Flowers congregate on the sides. The place? The De La Salle and Carondelet dances.

Various organizations made dances possible. Groups ranged from both Campus Ministries & class councils. Lots of work went into making the dances successful, and the student body can fondly recall the good times that they had at these special social events.

-Geoff Gallagher-

SHAKE YOUR BODY TONIGHT

Everyone enjoys the dances.

Catherine Hobson and Laure Kiernan intimidate the cameraman into dancing.

Ed Umali and the mystery woman.

Kimberly Herrick and a friend relaxing during a fast dance.

The freshman wallflower society.

HOMECOMING

Their eyes met as they danced . . . for a moment they floated through time and space in the still of the night.

Homecoming 1987. It was a pleasant experience for almost everyone who attended. The gym was beautifully decorated. Green streamers and grey balloons adorned the ceiling. Next to one of the bleachers was a park bench and a lantern surrounded by a white picket fence. In the center of it all was a stage. Next to the stage was a screen showing surrealistic images and the highlights of Homecoming Week.

The highlight of the evening came when the Homecoming King and Queen were announced. First, the Prince and Princess were named. The honor of King and Queen went to Jim King and Bridgette Bartlett. Last year's king and queen presented them with the crown and sceptre.

1987 Homecoming King and Homecoming Queen Bridget Bartlett led the dance in their honor.

"The one and only" is a phrase that truly represents the De La Salle football team. Their skill is virtually unpassed.

1986 Homecoming King Pat Lofy and Queen Kelly Wachowicz.

1987 Prince Kevin Dieter and Princess Paulette Erickson.

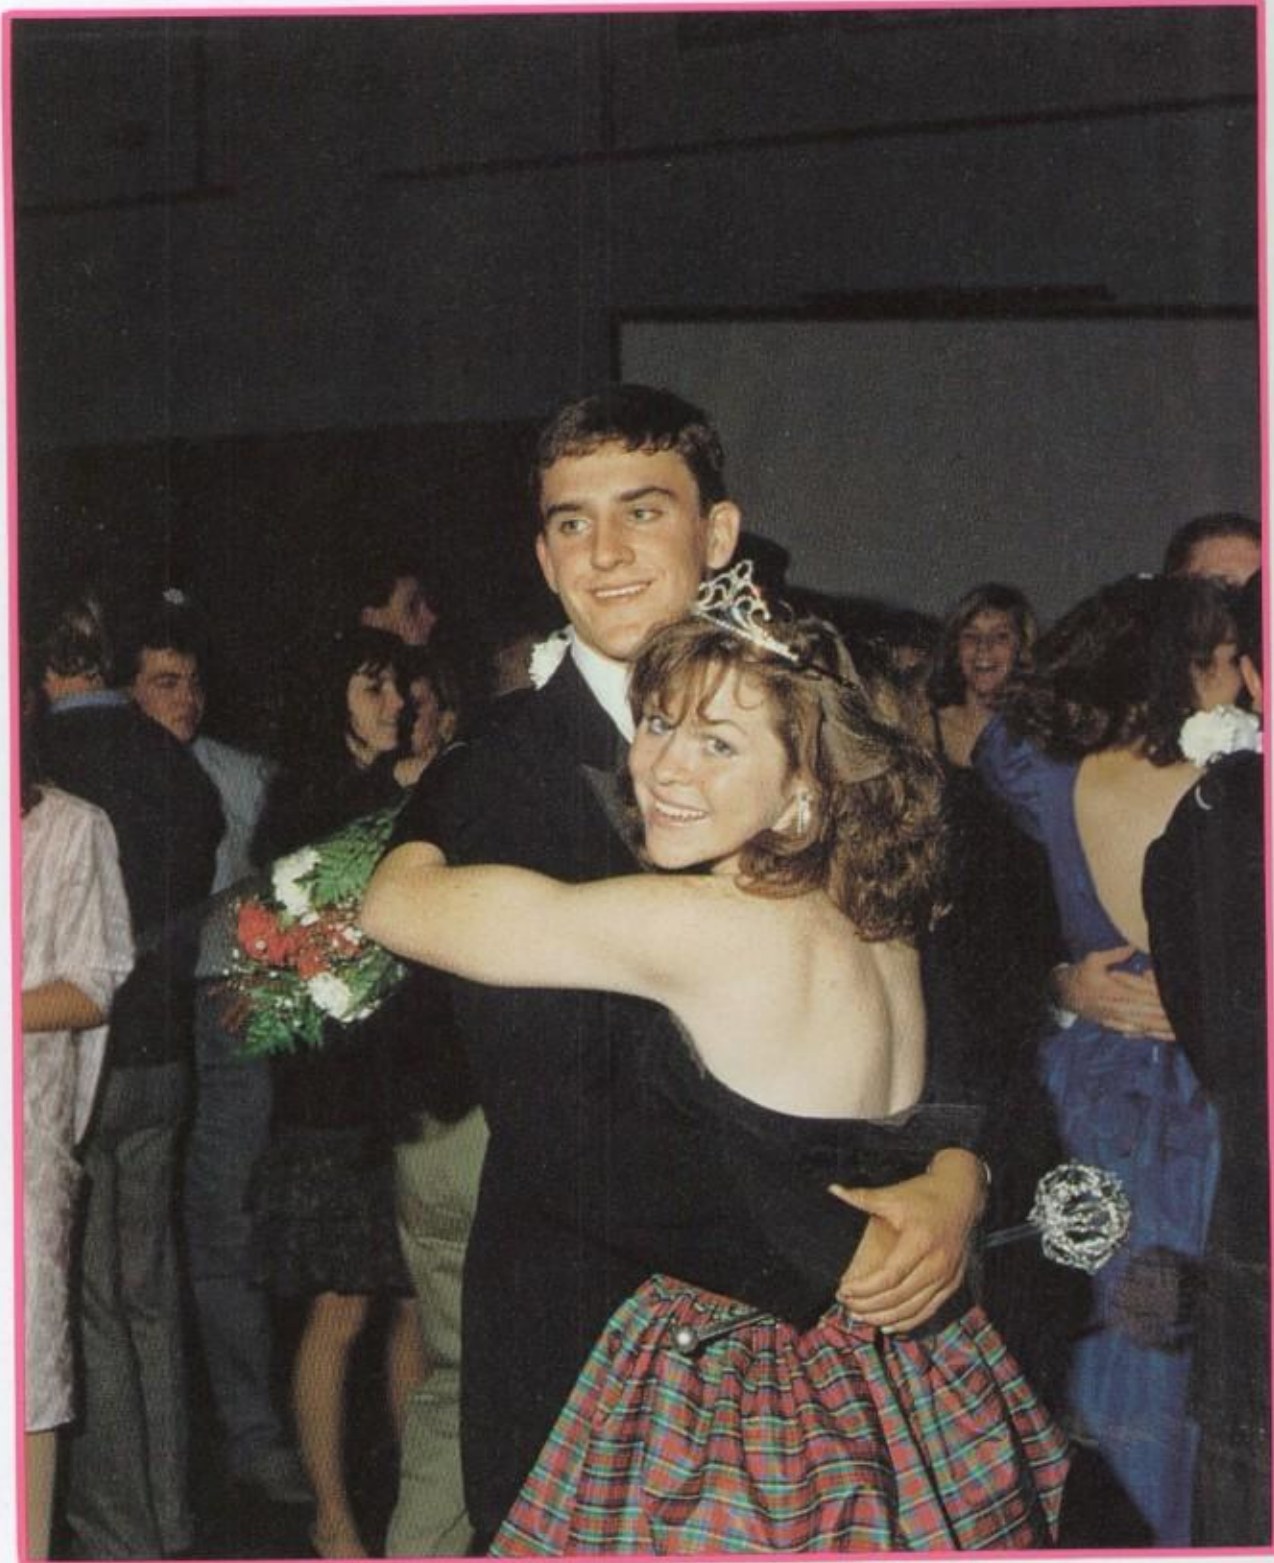

Griff Joyce and Kelly Riley.

Jason Sneed and Stacey Stanfield.

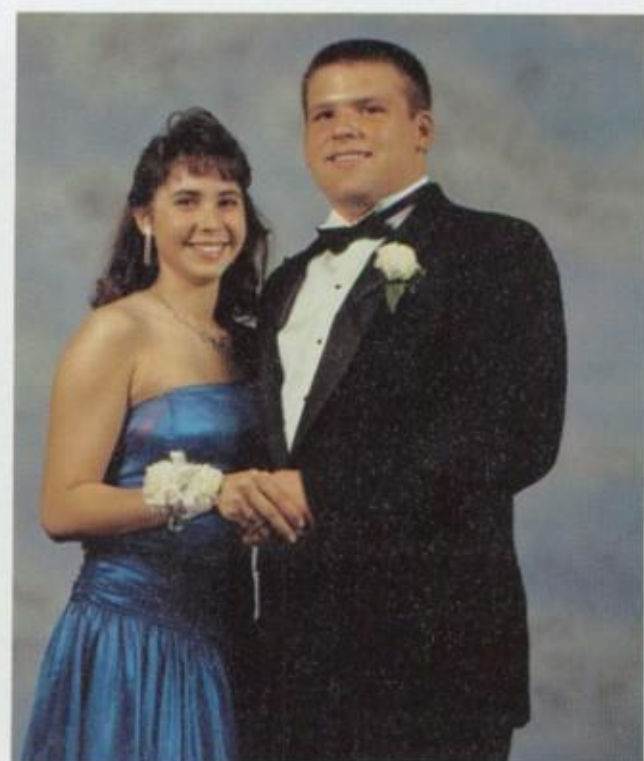

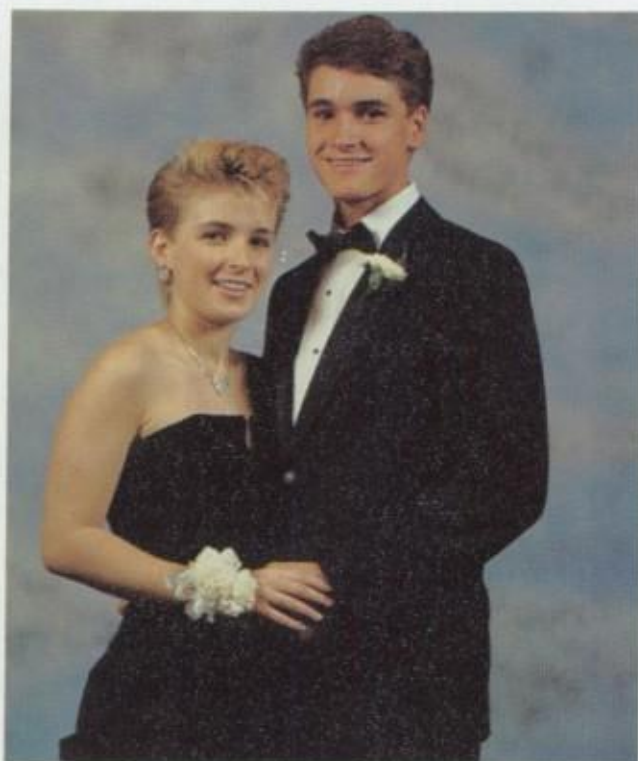

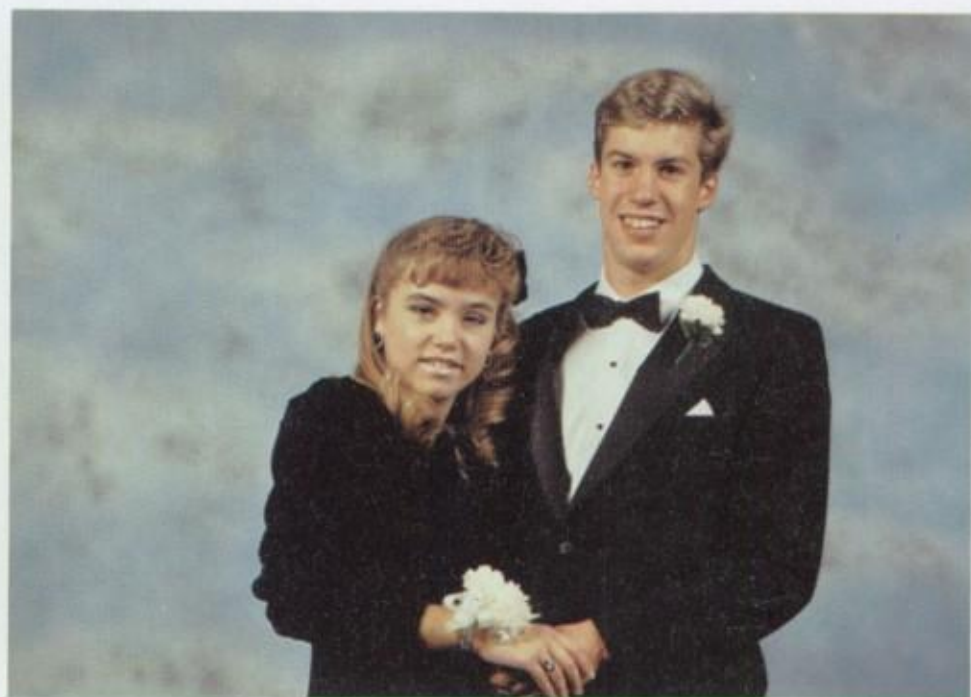

Paul Still and Roni Cann.

Rob Forester and Cindy Nagy.

Brad Thompson and Shannon Lofy.

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

Who ever would have guessed that the Ultimate Spartan would turn out to be a canine? At the 1987 Homecoming Night Rally, anything is possible.

Suzanne Mattis tries to inspire the spirit among the De La Salle Spartan Football fans. Apparently, she was successful, considering the score.

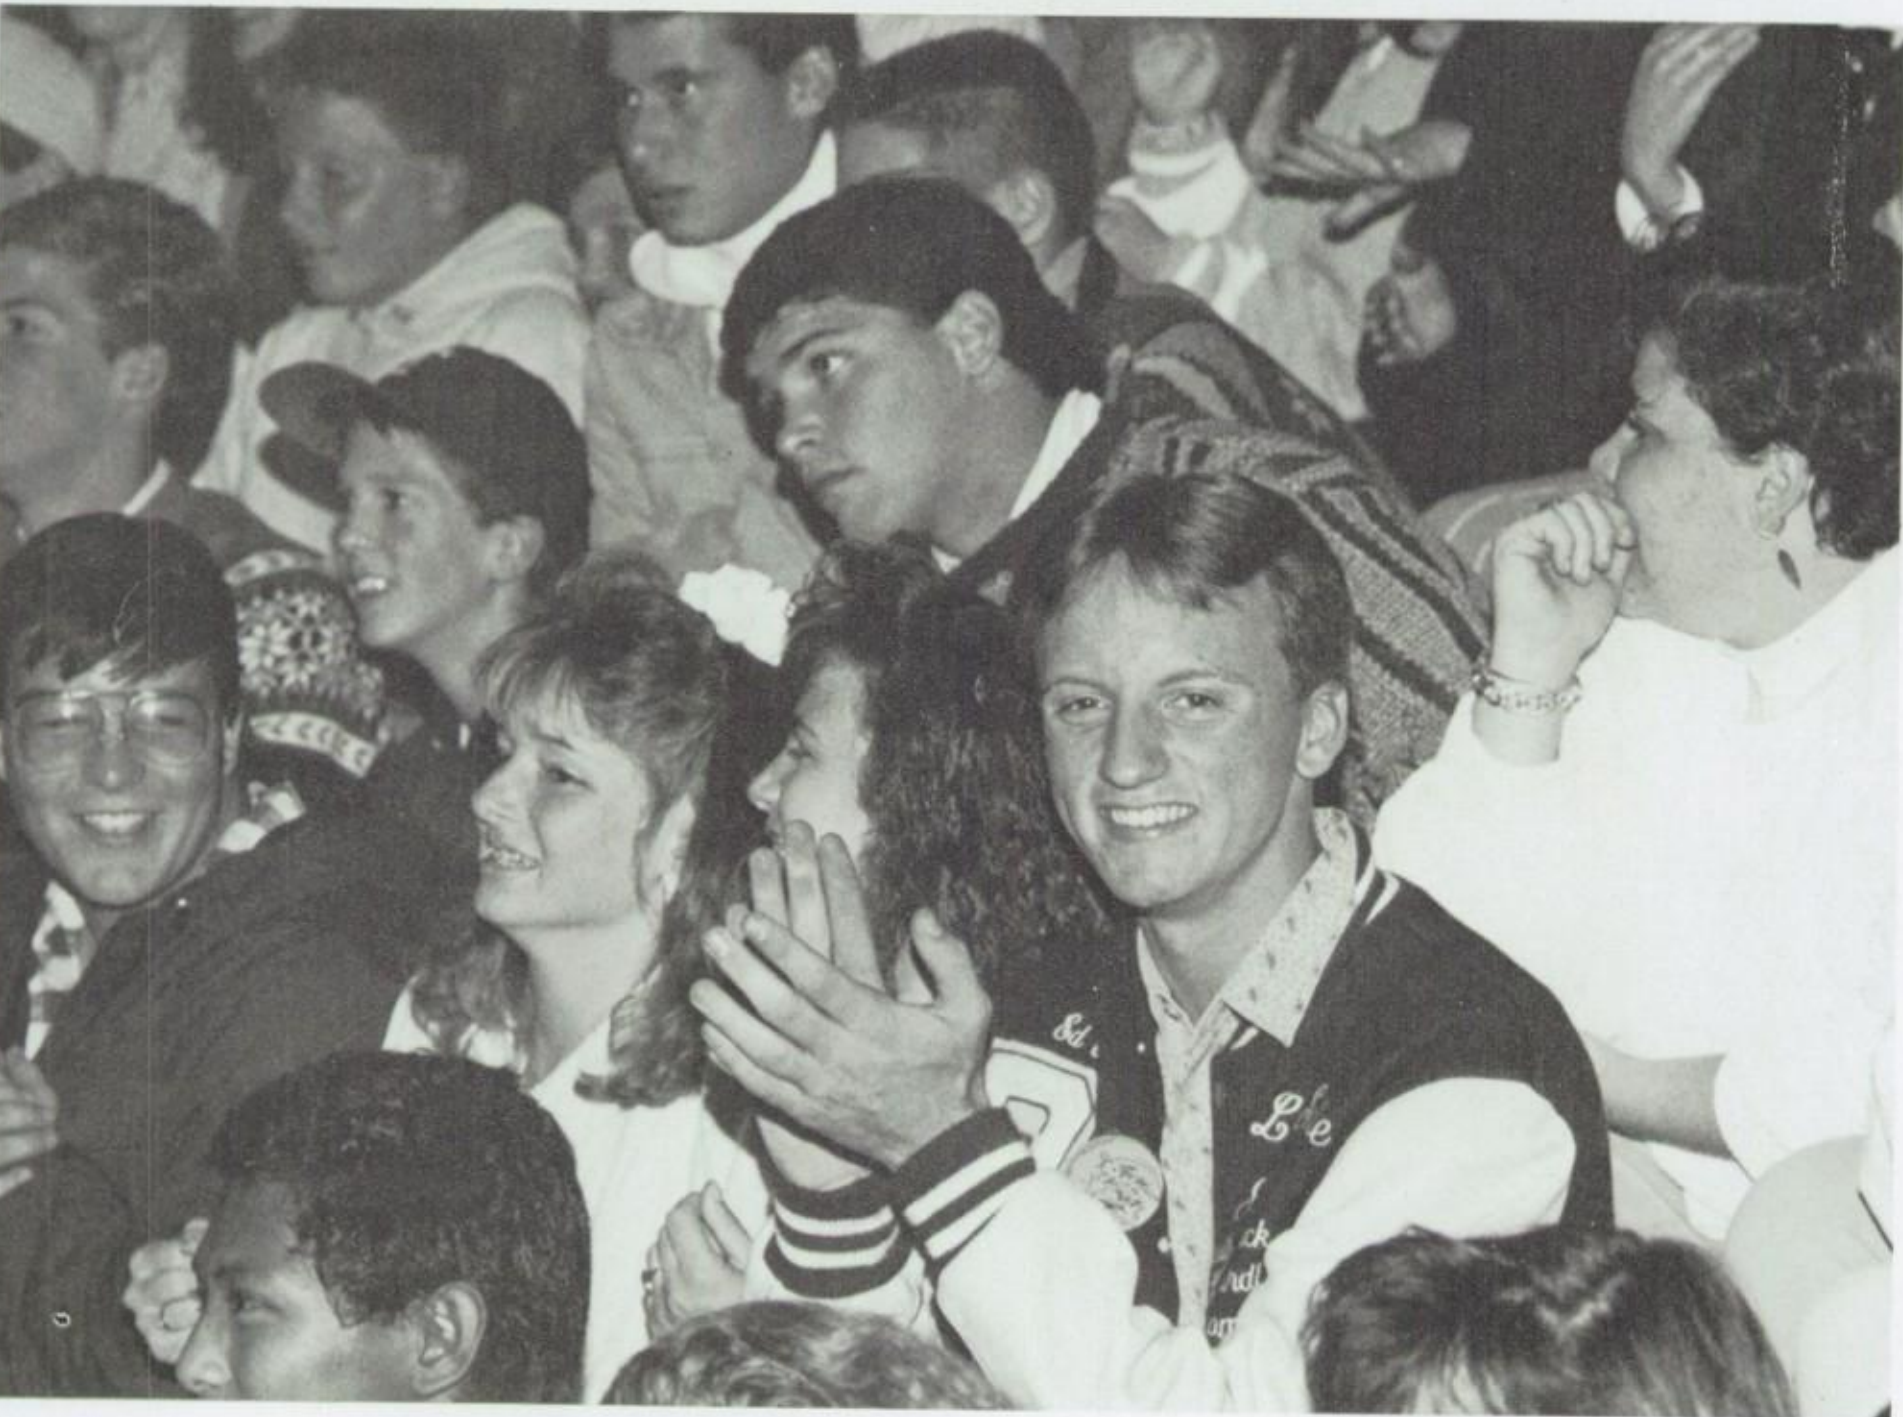

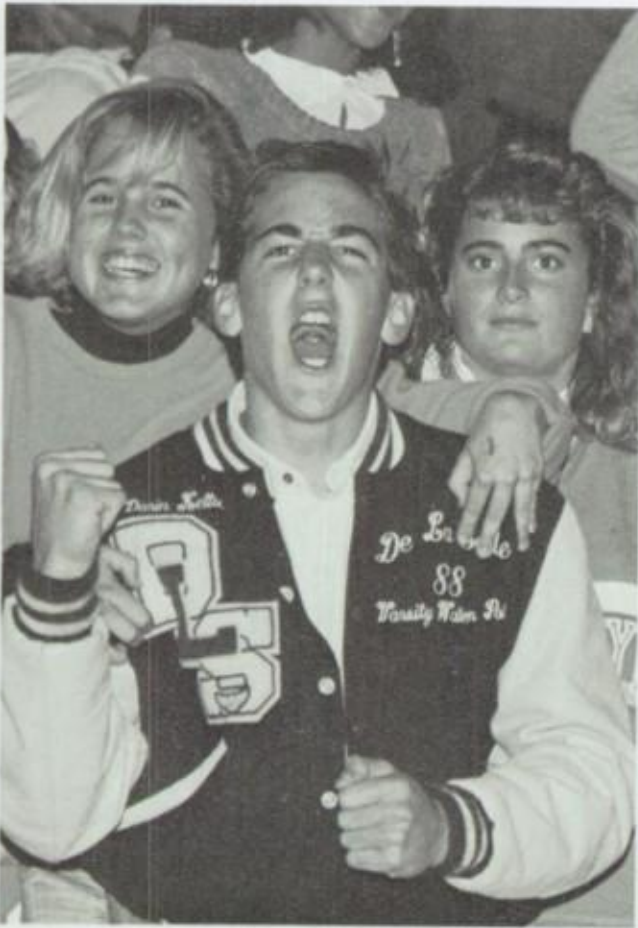

Princess Paulette Erickson and Prince Kevin Dieter are all smiles as their titles are bestowed on them.

Darin Kettwig is truly the leader of the enthusiasm at the De La Salle football games.

Brad Heyde tries to elude two Pinole Valley linemen at the same time.

Ed Jeffry is all smiles during the De La Salle victory over Pinole Valley.

CAMPUS MINISTRY

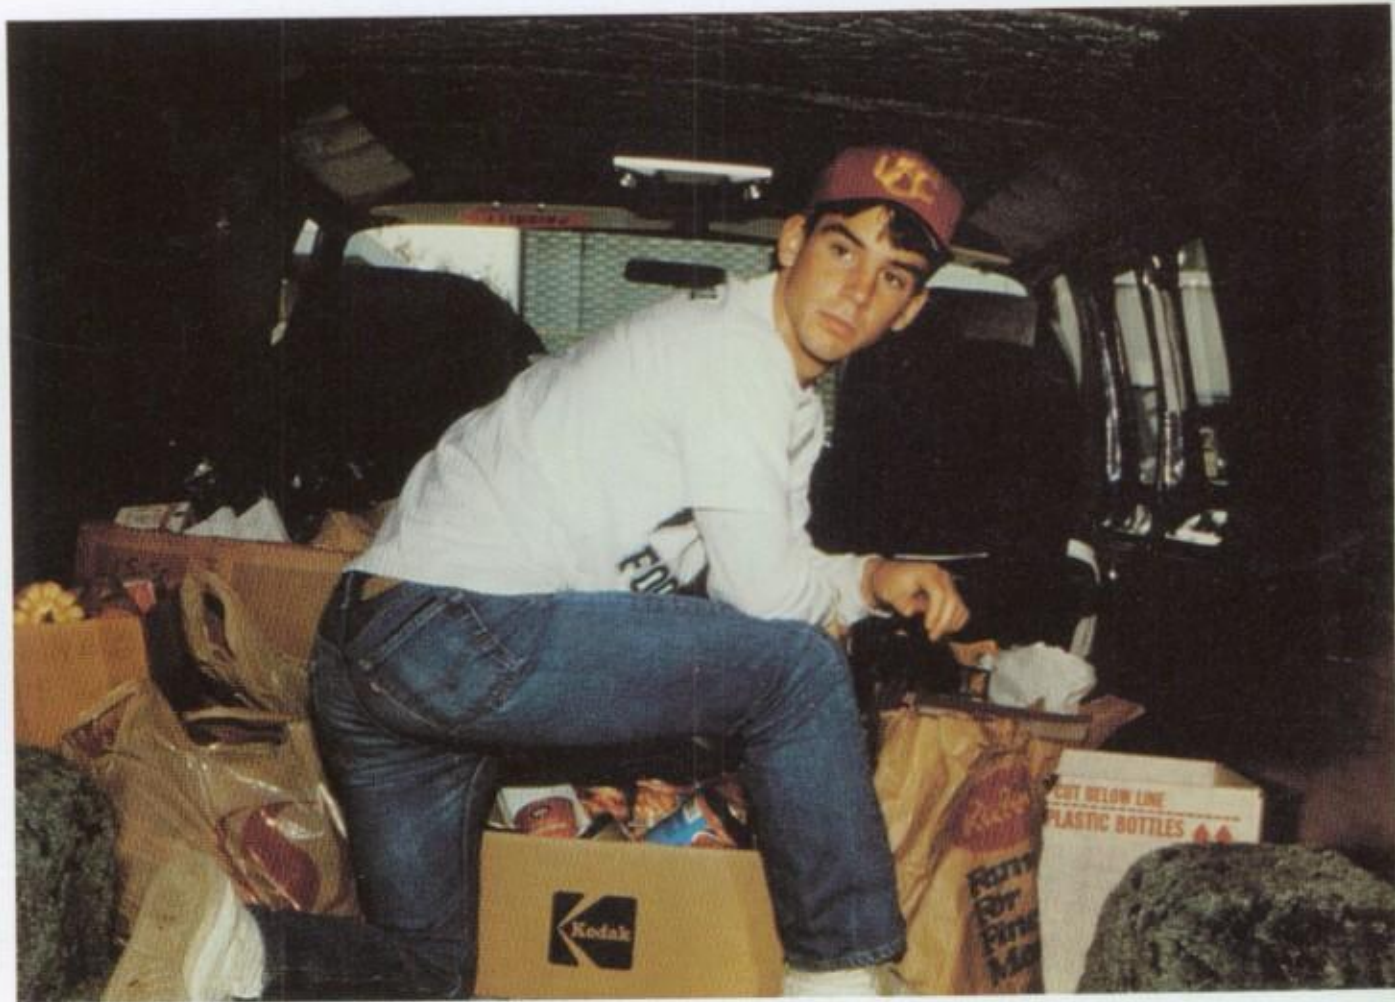

What is Campus Ministry? A student might say, "It's that place where the old bookstore was where everyone kicks back and has a good time." Though this might be true, Campus Ministry is unique in that it offers more to the student body.

Mr. Kelley, the organizer, has established a "Door is always open" policy when Campus Ministry members need a sense of identity or a refuge from student pressures. They offer peer counseling for each other and the students.

One of Campus Ministry's purposes is improving student life. Because Mr. Kelley gives the members top priority in the office, it has succeeded-It has become the student lounge.

Thanks to their open-minded policy, students can enjoy the lounge and their services.

-Tom Buck-

Nate Crawford still manages to smile after a late night working on yearbook.

Rick Johnson helps out with delivering the food to needy families during the Hunger Awareness Week food drive.

The De La Salle Waste Watchers inspect the garbage cans for food that was thrown away during Hunger Awareness Week.

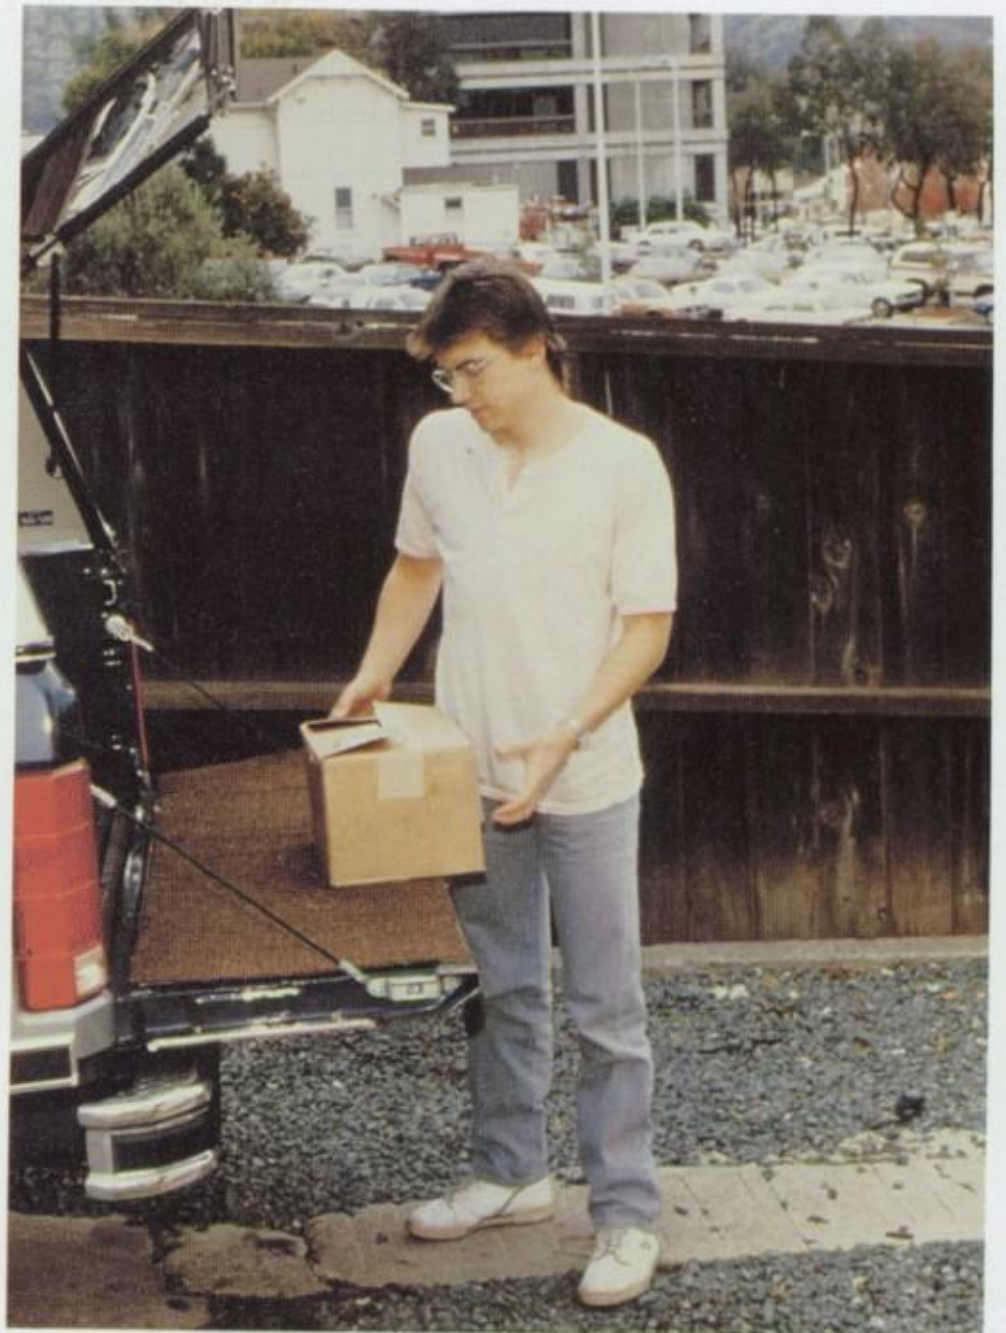

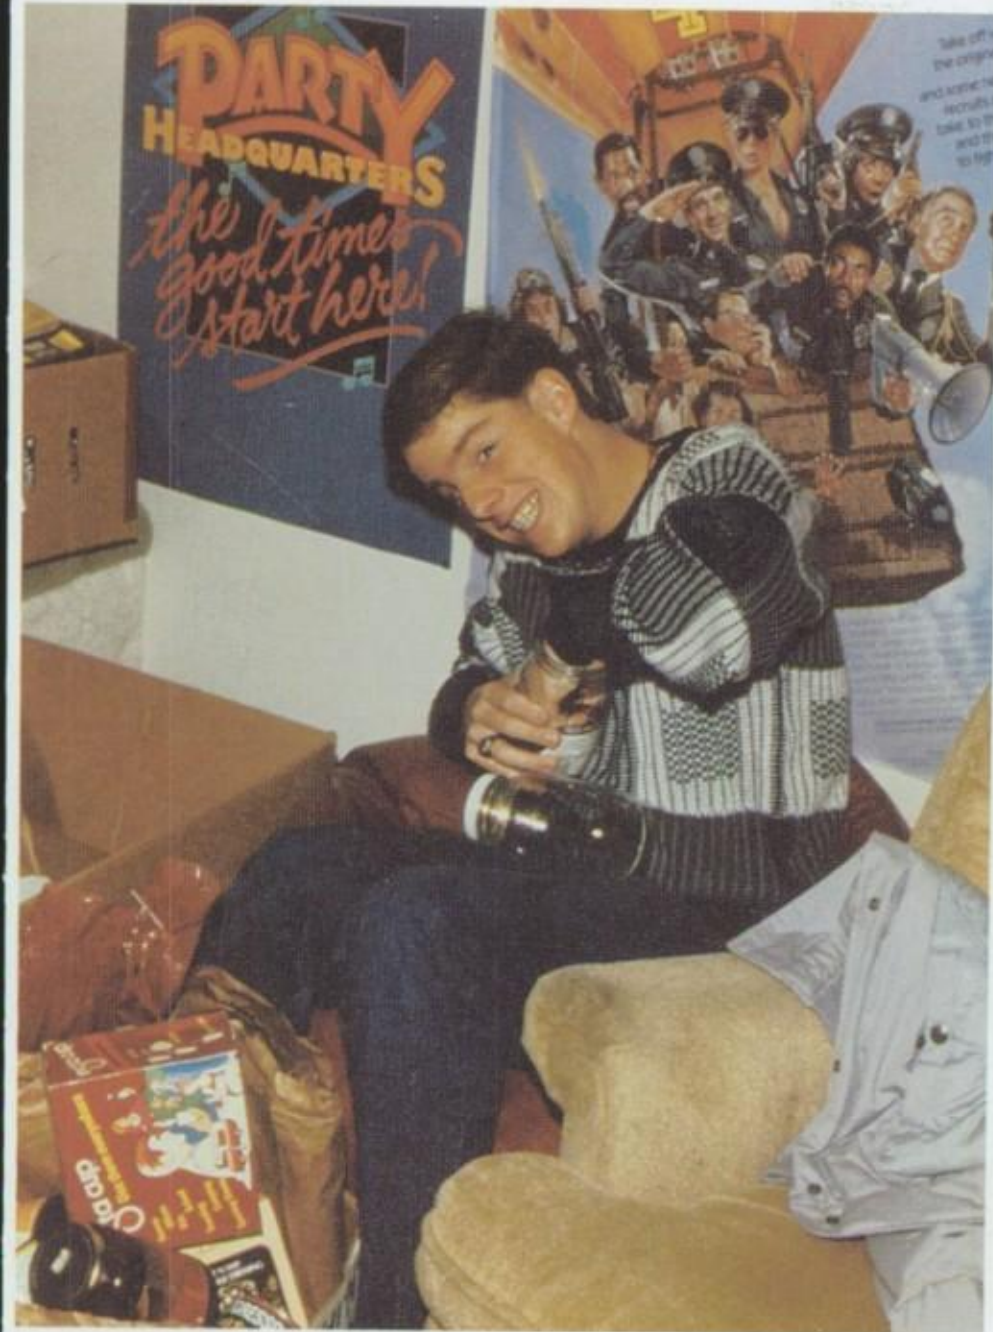

Sean Anderson prepares to load a food box onto the delivery truck.

Carl Schlichte is caught with his hand in the cash jar. Actually, Carl was getting together the money to be delivered to the needy.

Pete Kelley hard at work to keep Campus Ministry organized and efficient.

SERVING OUR COMMUNITY

RETREATS

Getting Away From It All

Sometime during the school year the Seniors go on a retreat to the Christian Brothers' Retreat House. It's a time to get away from the pressures of everyday life and reflect on relationships with others and with God.

There were a wide variety of activities. They ranged from talking in small groups to playing volleyball.

The retreat provoked a strong unity between De La Salle and Carondelet Senior classmates. With new friendships made it was a rewarding experience.

LITURGIES

The Essence Of De La Salle

De La Salle Liturgies offer students more than just a mass for those who didn't go on Sunday. It helps the student in daily life. Sometimes the students like to go to liturgies because they're having a bad week. Some days, they like the time alone to think about God and realize all the good things in their lives. Sometimes the students don't even pray during the mass, but they stay because of everyone else. The students like the liturgies because of the feeling of being one spirit makes them feel more alive.

GROUNDBREAKING

With the passing of time comes the need for change. That is why a 5-year building plan has been effected to meet the new age.

Among those things already done are stadium lights and bleachers for the football field, a computer center, and new offices for the counselors.

For the future, a new swimming pool.

"Break a leg, folks . . ." Patti Stauch's words to the people of Company, De La Salle's Drama Club. The pride of a production well done are the feelings of the cast and crew alike as they bring us the Fall Drama, The Winter Musical, and the Spring Comedy.

Thanks to Patti Stauch, Company's Director, the students learn about theater and how to appreciate theater productions and going on excursions to see various productions. Through the headaches and hard work, Company brings us magic.

-Reuben C. San Juan-

THE FALL DRAMA

Company of De La Salle and Carondelet started out their 1987-1988 season with the award-winning stage production of Reginald Rose's Dino. It is a modern rendition combining classic themes of coming of age with the struggle of good versus evil inside the individual. Dino details the trials and tribulations of the play's namesake, a troubled young man just out of reform school. Facing uncaring parents, unfamiliar surroundings, and his own dark past, Dino must choose between the forces pulling at him from all directions.

The three performances of Dino attracted record audiences for a fall drama, and were generally considered to be a huge success.

WEST SIDE STORY

This year, Company presented the award-winning musical, "West Side Story." This modern-day Romeo and Juliet story focuses around the hate between two rival street gangs, the Jets and the Sharks. It is this hate that causes a major obstacle for two lovers, Tony, an ex-leader of the Jets, and Maria, sister of Bernardo, leader of the Sharks.

The performances presented by Company were truly one of happiness and tears, and proved very successful as do all performances presented by Company of De La Salle and Carondelet.

WE MADE IT!

When asked whether or not the 1987-1988 academic year would begin with a bang or a whimper, Senior Class Council Representative Mike Velasco answered confidently, "With a definite bang!" And he was right. 1988 was a big year for the Seniors. President Jim King led the Council in weekly meetings. Along with Vice President Rob Forester, and Moderator Julie Sanderson, the foundation of leadership was built, making possible such activities as the Freshman Orientation, the Senior Halloween Party, the Welcome Mass, and the long-awaited Senior Ball.

The representatives and officers worked in unison to prove that hard work and dedication pay off. They kept on top of things to make the best year at De La Salle the best.

A FLASH OF STYLE

Off campus. Graduation. College. Example. Leadership. These are just a few of the many words that could be used to describe the De La Salle Seniors. They commonly speak of trying to make their last year the best possible, and sometimes, they go to unusual extremes to try and do just that. Some will try to go beyond their academic limits, setting the pace and opening up a whole new dimension in education. Some try to do the same thing in spiritual terms, working to unify the student body into something resembling a family with 800 members. Still others will work to broaden their social horizons, reaching out in all directions to be friends with people who were once only casual acquaintances. Yet another portion of the class seeks to gain athletic recognition, trying to attract athletic scouts from big-name colleges as well as attracting fans to attend the sporting events.

All of these groups of people, made of individuals, make up the De La Salle Senior Class. Each person uses his individual talents and abilities to contribute to the larger picture. And when all was said and done, when the final grades were submitted, the last homework turned in, the last lab cleaned up, the stage swept up one last time, when all this was over — these 214 young men stood in caps and gowns, looking in awe at how far they had come. They saw standing next to them people they called their classmates and friends.

Ladies and gentlemen, the De La Salle Class of 1988.

SENIORS . . .

Just Being Themselves

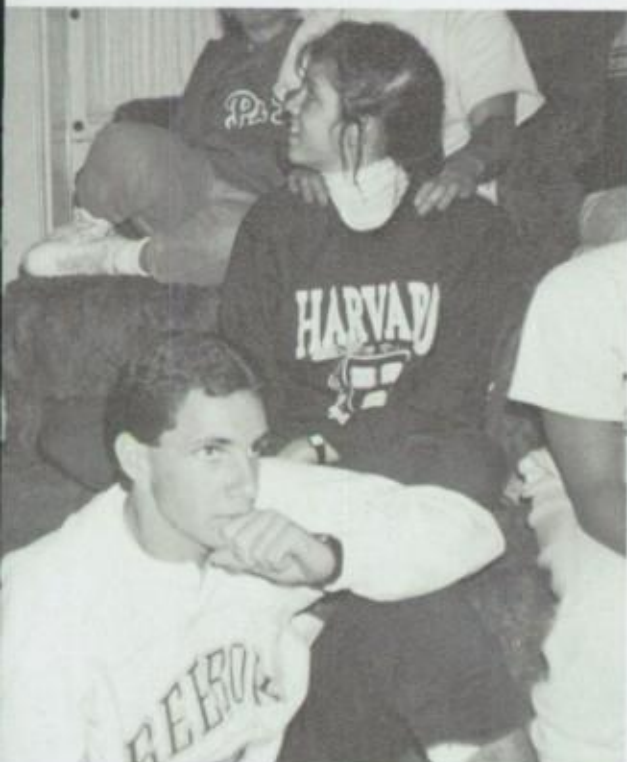

You've reached the end of your four year journey. You're the big man on campus, upper-upperclassman, and you're at the top. Be proud of yourself . . . you're a SENIOR.

Rank has its privilages. You can go off campus, you go on Senior Retreats, and you have seniority among the student body.

A lot was learned on your journey. You learned to understand Mr. Tamony, and yourself. Four years sure went by fast, didn't they.

With rank came responsibility. The SAT, Colleges, life and the Senior Ball.

Feels great, doesn't it.

"Hey, what are you lookin at."

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

DLS' Best Minds

The National Honor Society was initiated in 1981 to recognize outstanding students. Membership in the organization is limited to those who have earned a G.P.A. in the top fifteen percent of their class. Society members must also demonstrate the service and leadership both in the school and in the community. Once accepted into the society, students are available for tutoring, and are eligible for various scholarships upon graduation. Led by Mr. Jack O'Leary, the 1987-1988 National Honor Society continued the tradition of excellence that has long been a part of De La Salle High School.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS

The De La Salle Varsity Cheerleaders, brimming with excitement, led both schools in spirit. Starting off with football season and continuing throughout baseball season, these girls had an exciting year. The Varsity Squad kept smiling through the thrill of victory and the agony of defeat.

Good job, girls!

THE GIRLS IN GREEN

J.V. CHEERLEADERS

Raising Spirit

Bursting with energy, the JV Cheerleaders led us in spirit and enthusiasm. These dedicated gals provided their time rain or shine, far or near to cheer for our schools. They put a lot of effort into their routines. In doing so, they brought forth a unification of spirit-which made the games full of excitement. They led us in cheers and helped us encourage our teams to victory.

SONG GIRLS

Bursting With Enthusiasm

The De La Salle Songgirls earned a blue ribbon for their home team and brought home a spirit sticker for their spirit and enthusiasm. We have worked long hard hours to make our routines look good. Performing synchronized moves to exciting music and lively beats, the songgirls turn half time and other breaks into displays of talent and pulse. Without a doubt, the dedication and enthusiasm of the songgirls translates into our support of our teams and school.

Rally Club

Cheering Us On

It's Friday night and the stands are packed. De La Salle returns the ball for another touchdown and the crowd goes wild. This intense frenzy grows strong as the De La Salle Rally Club encourages their school to another victory.

The Rally Club is responsible for increased student participation at De La Salle sports events. They inspire school spirit and bring the DLS community together as one.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Leaders Of DLS

With pride and dedication, the 1988 Student Council led De La Salle High School in one of its best years. Guided by Director of Student Activities, Doug Emeldi, the Council opened up the year by welcoming the new freshmen at the Frosh Social. ASB President Paul Still and Vice President Matt Wachowicz served as figureheads for the council. Under their leadership, they planned one of the most successful Homecoming extravaganzas ever. They informed us with published agendas, led us in rallies, encouraged spiritual support at various games, and initiated De La Salle's newest radio show. There is no denying that the ASB council made 1988 a rewarding year.

NEWSPAPER

The DLS Press

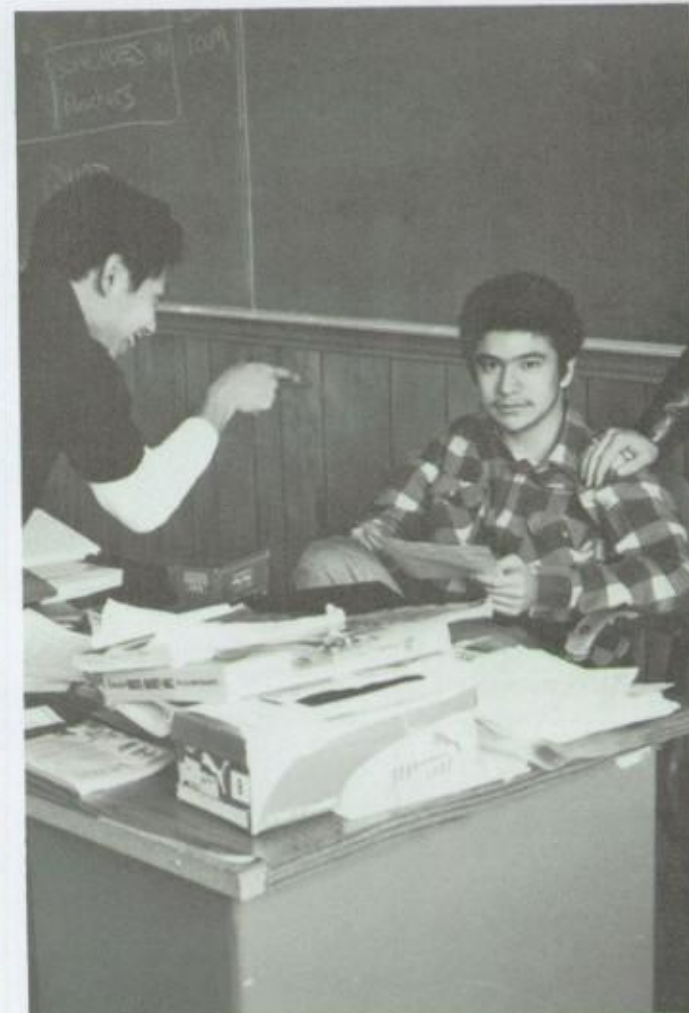

With pride and dedication, the Spartan Newspaper staff made Les Hommes de Foi a success again. The new committee consisted of diverse groups of people representing the academic elite of the student body. The Le Hommes de Foi team was also assisted by the new computer lab. Led by Mr. Steven Krieshok, they preserved the tradition of excellence in Journalism.

TARGET

KDLS "Live"

It's not the network news or the Tonight Show. What it is, is fantastic. A show produced by students, directed by students, and composed by students. The topics of this High School talk-show range from Congressmen to guitar makers, firechiefs to Dr. Don Rose.

Target took on a brand new look this year. Br. Dan has moved in to fill the gap left by Br. Clarence. Under his direction, Target has been responsible for over 30 shows during our taping season. The addition of room 105 as a permanent taping studio was an incredible boost to the program. The show, along with it's hosts Jenny Flieder, Robert Jordan, and Sean Anderson, has finally been getting the respect they deserve.

Jenni Fleegeer, Robert Jordan and Sean Anderson break the ice with the evening's guest.

The workers behind the scenes are not often credited or acknowledged, but their contribution is invaluable nevertheless.

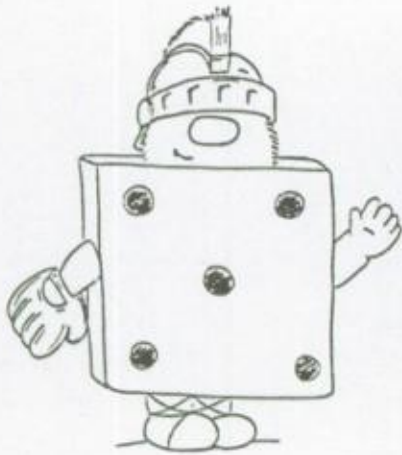

Sean Anderson exhibits leadership abilities as the host of the "Target-The Information Show."

STRATOMATIC BASEBALL

Playing The Game

The 1986 baseball season was very exciting for Bay Area fans. The Giants had a winning season after losing 100 games the year before. Mike Krukow had a banner year for the Giants, winning 20 games.

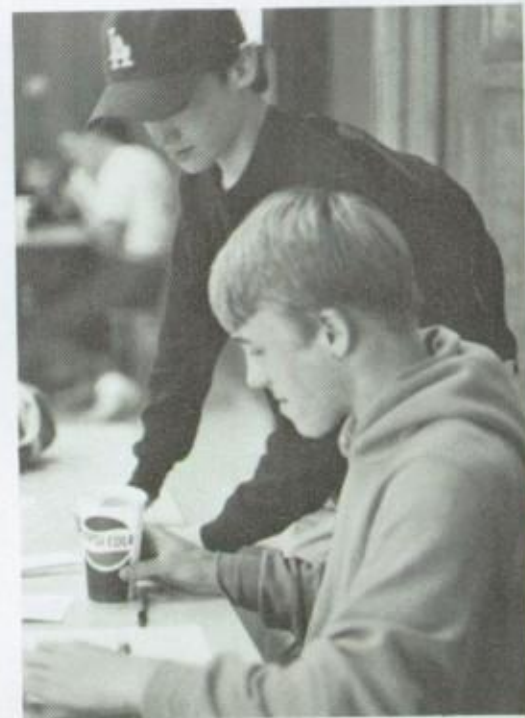

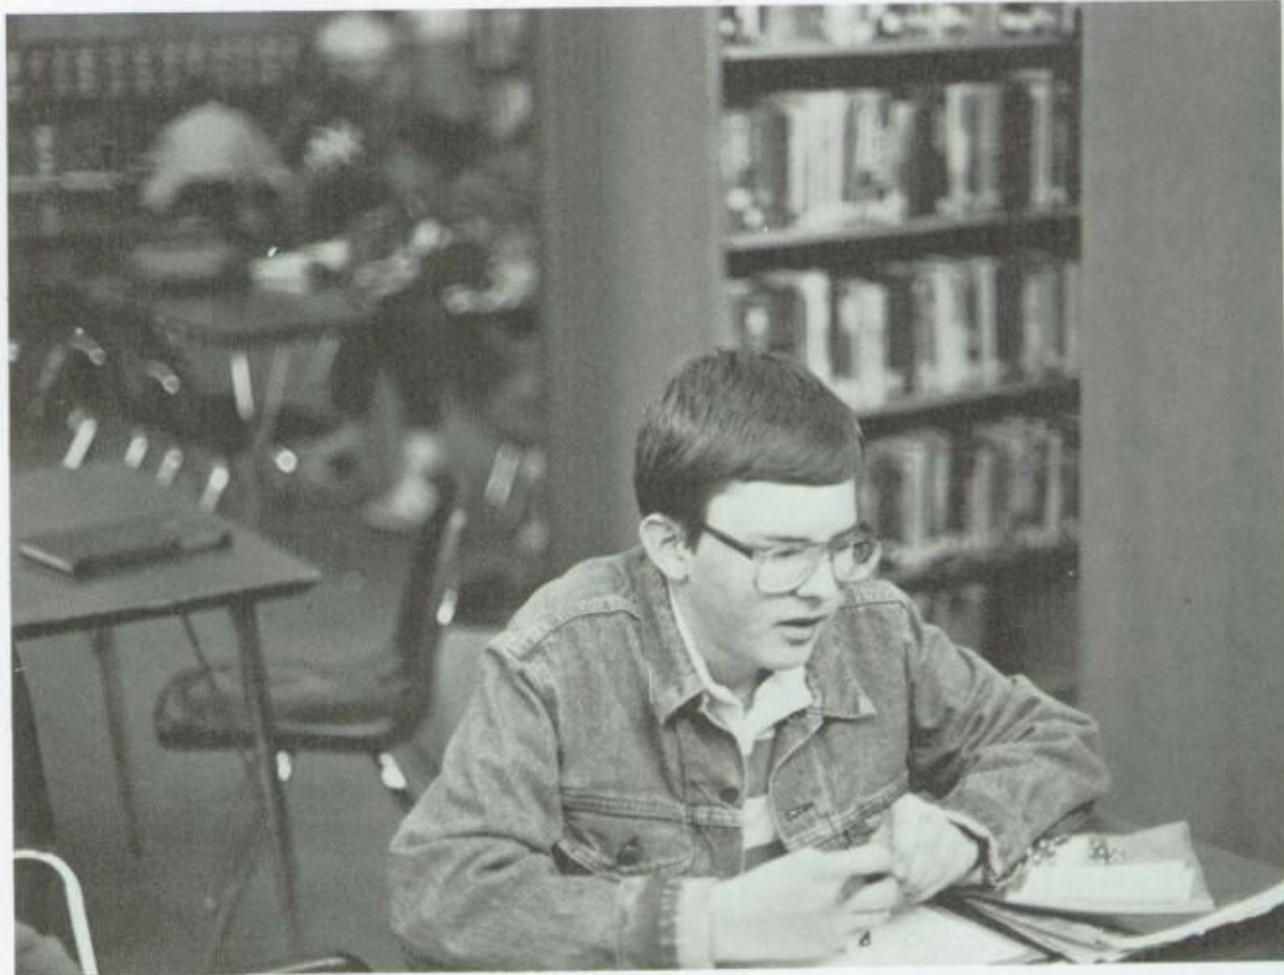

The De La Salle Strat-O-Matic Baseball Club, under the direction of Mr. Krieshok, hopes the simulated season proves to be just as exciting. One student from the American League and one from the National League will play the All-Star Game at the halfway point in the season. Then, around March, the playoffs and World Series take place.

Jeff Cardinale

Stratomatic Baseball is game that requires concentration.

Mike Price is intent upon his results.

One can play Stratomatic Baseball anywhere, even in the cafeteria.

CLIQUEES

Hanging Around Your Friends

Although the word clique is one commonly used negatively to describe exclusive groups, what cliques truly represent is people with common interests coming together in search of a sense of belonging. Guys who work and act in Company band together, while people who like to ride on skateboards form their own group. Guys who play sports will often find themselves discussing things other than the last game. There are no hard-and-fast boundaries, however. There are crossovers. The groups are still made up of individuals, and those individuals realize that they all have something in common, despite their professed interest.

SPEECH AND DEBATE

Proving Their Point

Speech and Debate is a new and exciting area of the DLS curriculum. Taught by Br. Cecil Charles, the class teaches how to be an effective speakers who can hold the interest of an audience hoping to one day receive recognition among other schools as a well trained team, the Speech and Debate Team practice often, and you can expect good things from the team next year.

DLS WES

Braving The Outback

The De La Salle Wilderness Society had its third successful season during the years 1987-1988. Moderated by Mr. Larry Dean, and with President Mike Boehm and Vice President John Egolf, the Society's goal is to allow students of De La Salle and Carondelet and opportunity to enjoy and appreciate the outdoors along with others who have similar interests. In the past, the Society has sponsored many successful trips to such places as Mount Shasta, Joshua Trees National Monument, Point Reyes, and the Grand Canyon. The Society has a membership of approximately ten full time members, with several dozen others accompanying the Society on its trips.

PARENTS ASSOCIATION

Guiding Our Future

The De La Salle Association of Parents is a volunteer organization comprised of any and all interested De La Salle parents. The underlying purpose of the Association is to support students in their critical growth years.

Their first goal is bringing De La Salle Parents together to form "The De La Salle Family." Their second goal, very simply, is fund raising. Fund raising social activities include the Fall Festival and the Fete Dinner Auction. The Association is a very active integral part of the community at De La Salle.

De La Salle's Parents Association is a source of pride and inspiration.

Meetings help the parents develop new ideas.

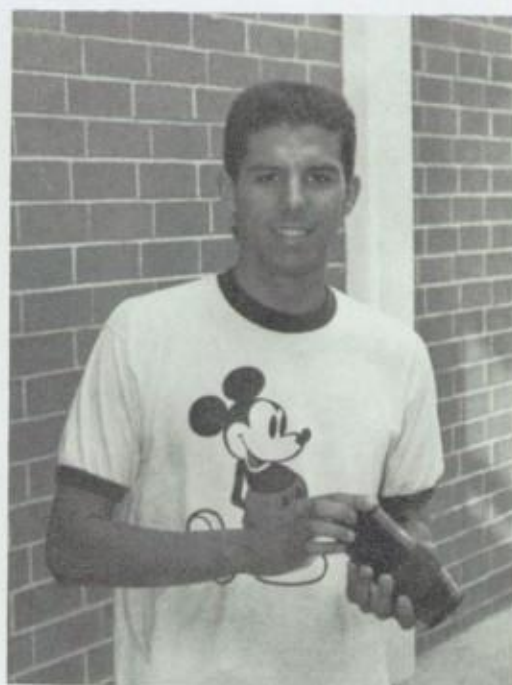

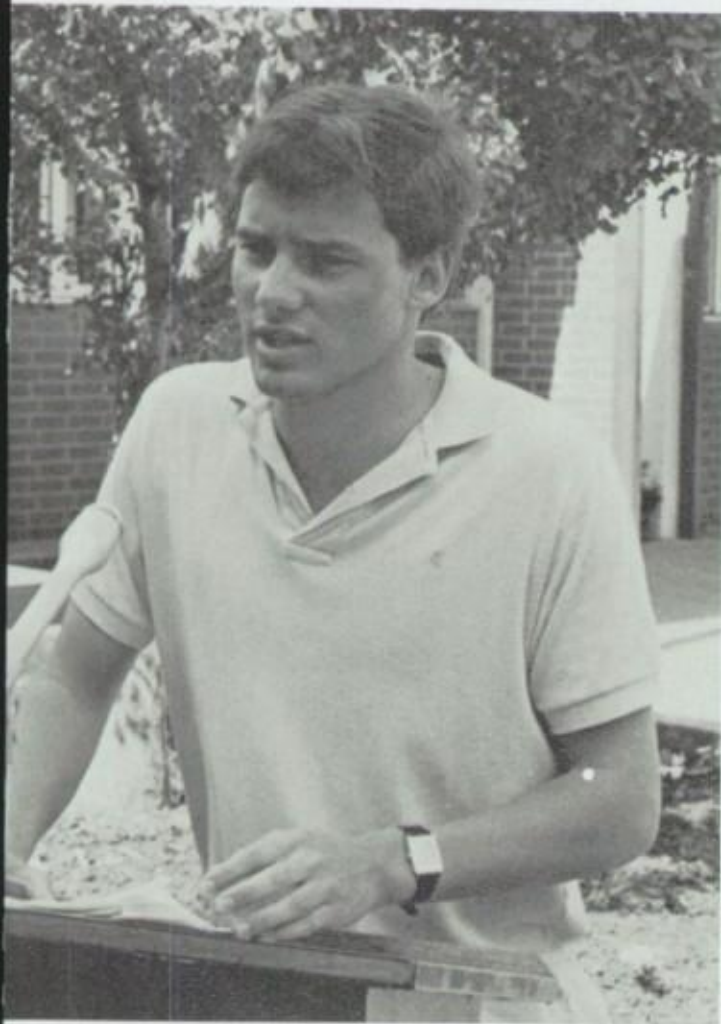

ALUMNI

Coming Back For More

Alumni, they just can't seem to get enough of De La Salle. They just keep coming back for more. Alumni seem to always return to De La Salle. Maybe to see a few friends who haven't graduated yet or just to visit a favorite teacher. Alumni are always welcome to come around De La Salle because once you are a part of the De La Salle family you never leave. You will always have a tie to De La Salle that is only made stronger by the passing of the years. De La Salle is more than just a school, it is a community of men who are achievers.

SKI CLUB

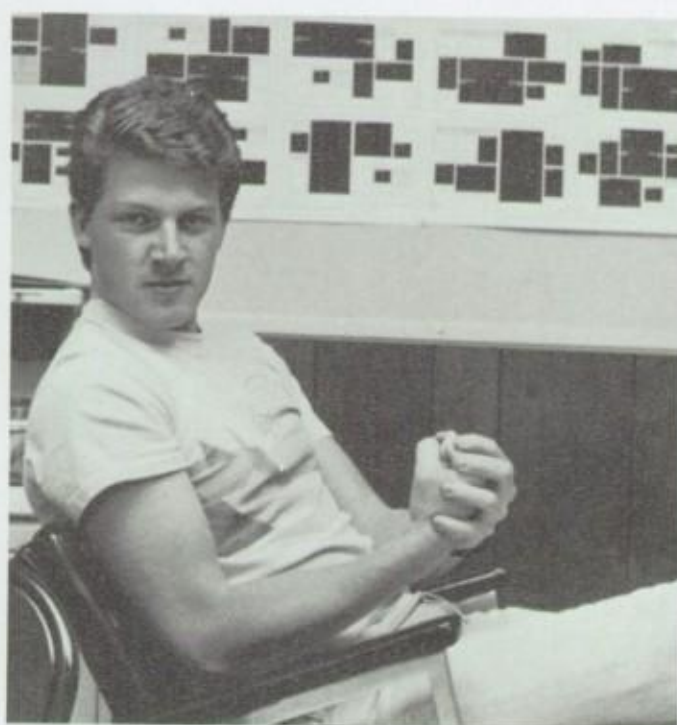

4:30 A.M., Saturday morning at De La Salle High School, a group of dedicated skiers gather to participate in a Ski Club trip. The De La Salle Ski Club is one of the most popular clubs on Campus. Under the direction of Nancy Jokerst, Beth Cornett and Cheryl Delahoussaye the Ski Club travels to several ski resorts including Squaw Valley, Heavenly and Bear Valley. With the new addition of a committee made up of DLS and Carondelet students, the student body will be able to have more input into what the ski club will do. This should prove to make the ski club more enjoyable for all involved.

UPPER CLASSMEN AT LAST

Steve Shea: "What the . . ."

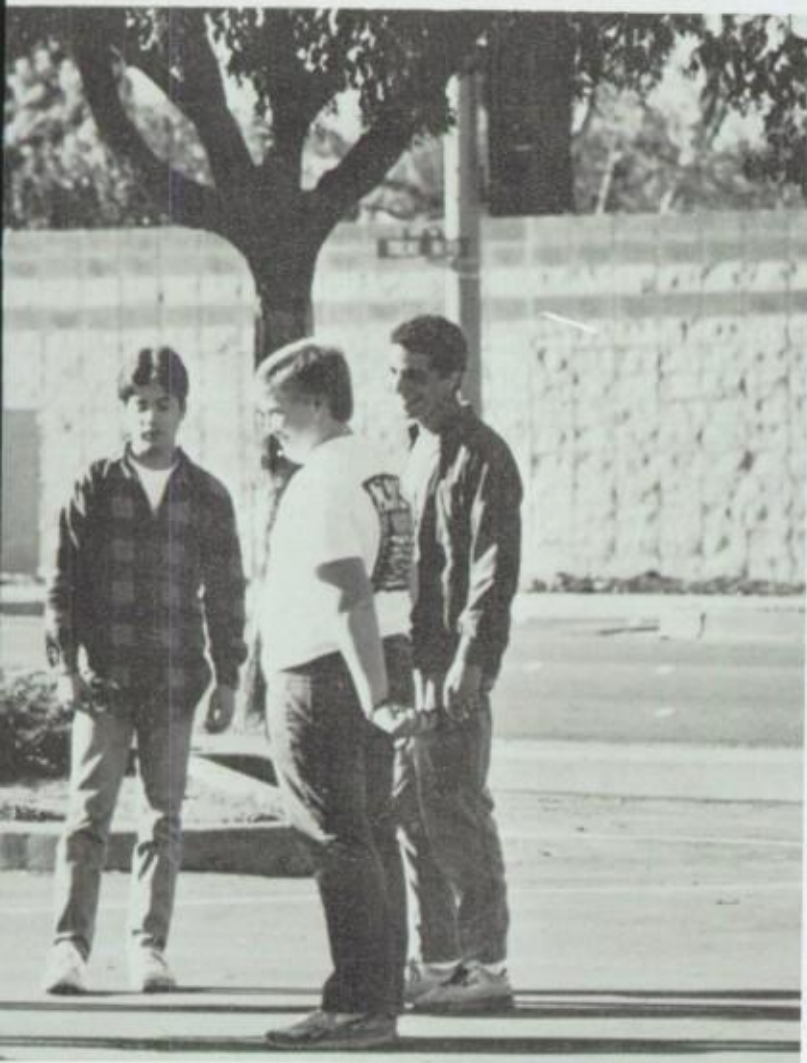

Scott Wallace leads the Juniors at a rally.

Butch Kbarian's moment in the spotlight.

Hackey Sack, the sport of Juniors.

Pride. You can see it in a Junior Class officer's face. When you come face to face with one of them, you know he's unlike any other in his class. He's brave, he's a leader, he's confident, he's strong, and above all, he's often asked to risk life and limb in unselfish attempts to plan activities for the student body. These men have seen action in some of the toughest blackboard jungles this side of Winton Drive, and made it out laughing. They were there to plan the "Great Thanksgiving Liturgy '87," the Jr./Sr. Christmas Dance, and the Junior Prom.

The landmark point of any De La Salle student is definitely the Junior year. It is at this point in time that they begin to truly enjoy the privileges of being an upperclassman. Upper lockers, the more challenging academic schedule, and the thoughts of college become a part of their reality. Indeed, the third year at De La Salle is a significant one. It is about this point in time that they begin to appreciate the ability to drive, and to rule over the ranks of lower classmen. Near the end of the year is perhaps the greatest of all privileges-the Junior Prom.

ATHLETICS

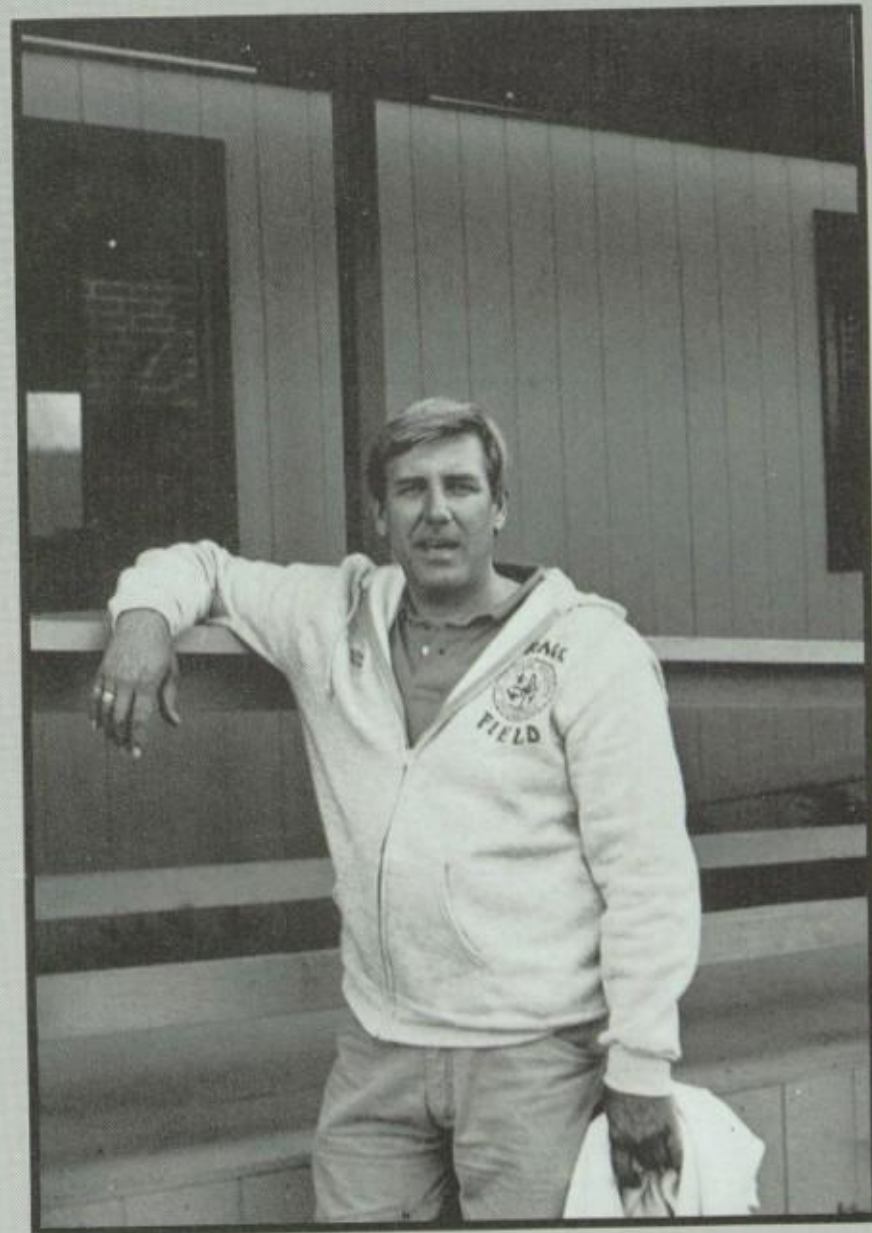

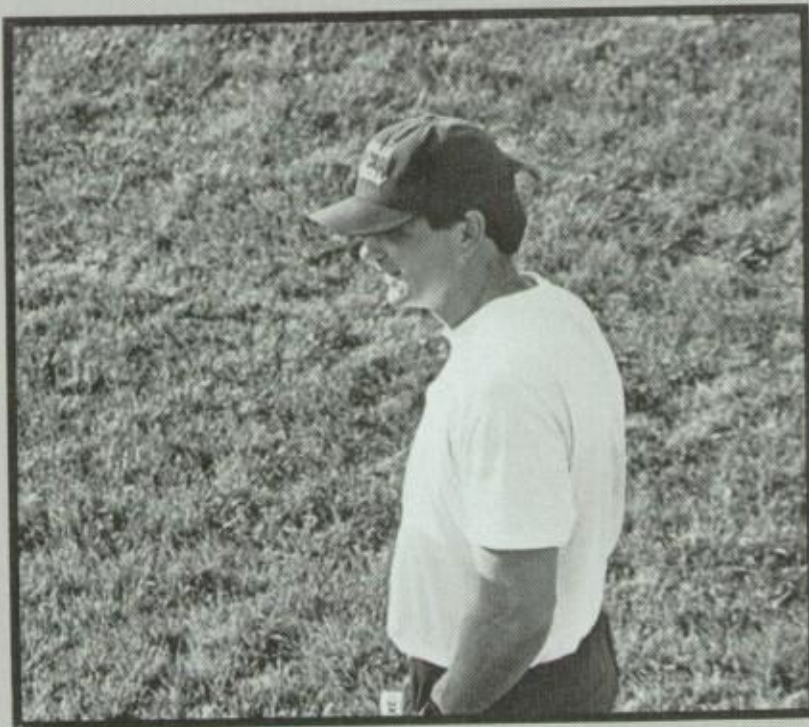

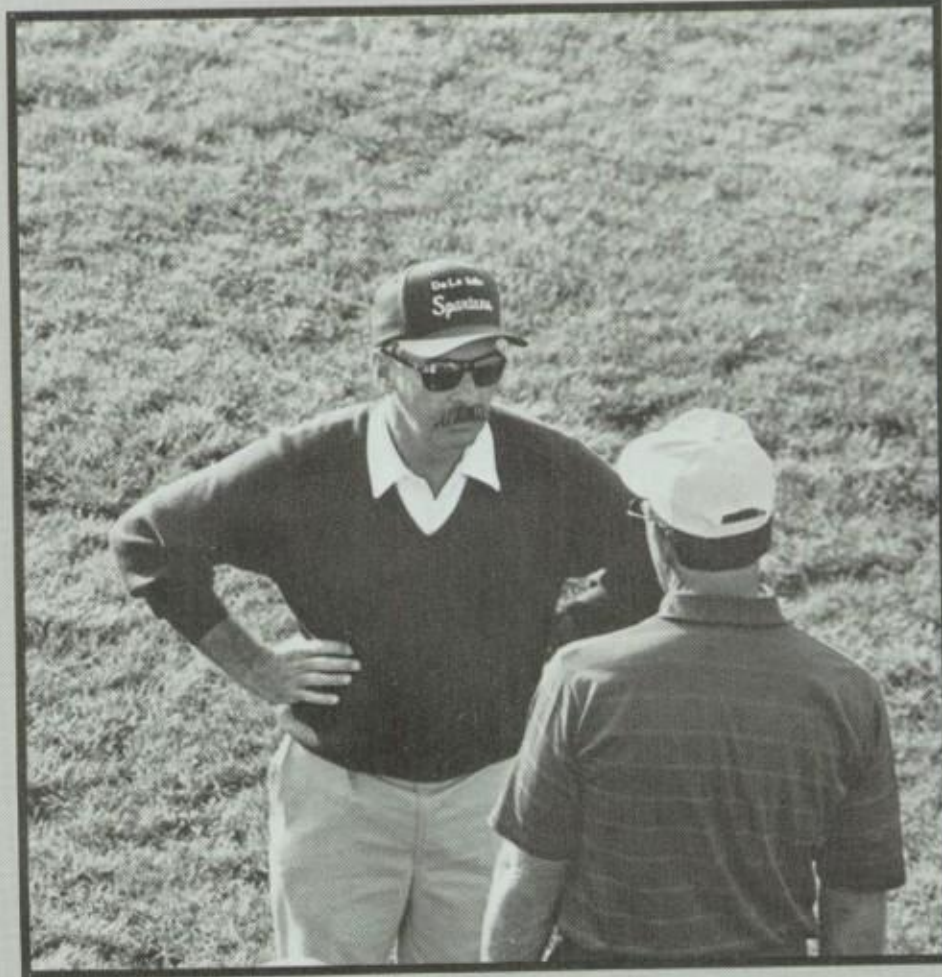

Competitive Spirit

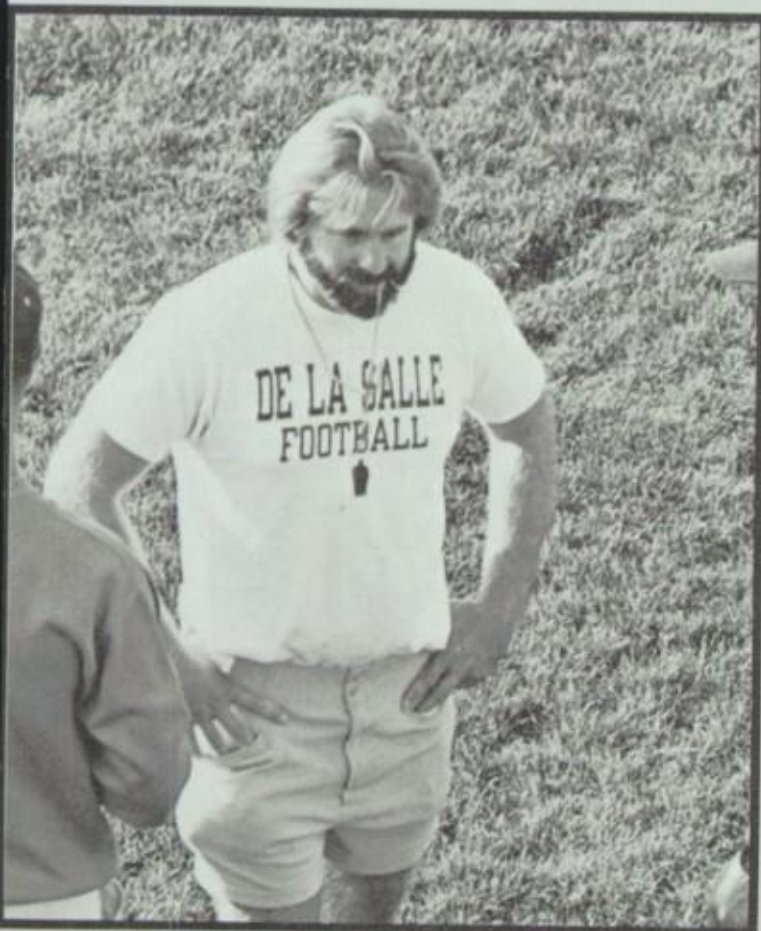

Sports at De La Salle mean a lot to the student body. Sports are an opportunity for us to show the community our skill and dedication. De La Salle has always tried to excel in all areas and athletics is no exception. All the teams at De La Salle have shown their determination to win and pride. De La Salle attempts to create the well rounded man, by challenging him intellectually and physically.

COACHES

Leading Our Teams

VARSITY FOOTBALL

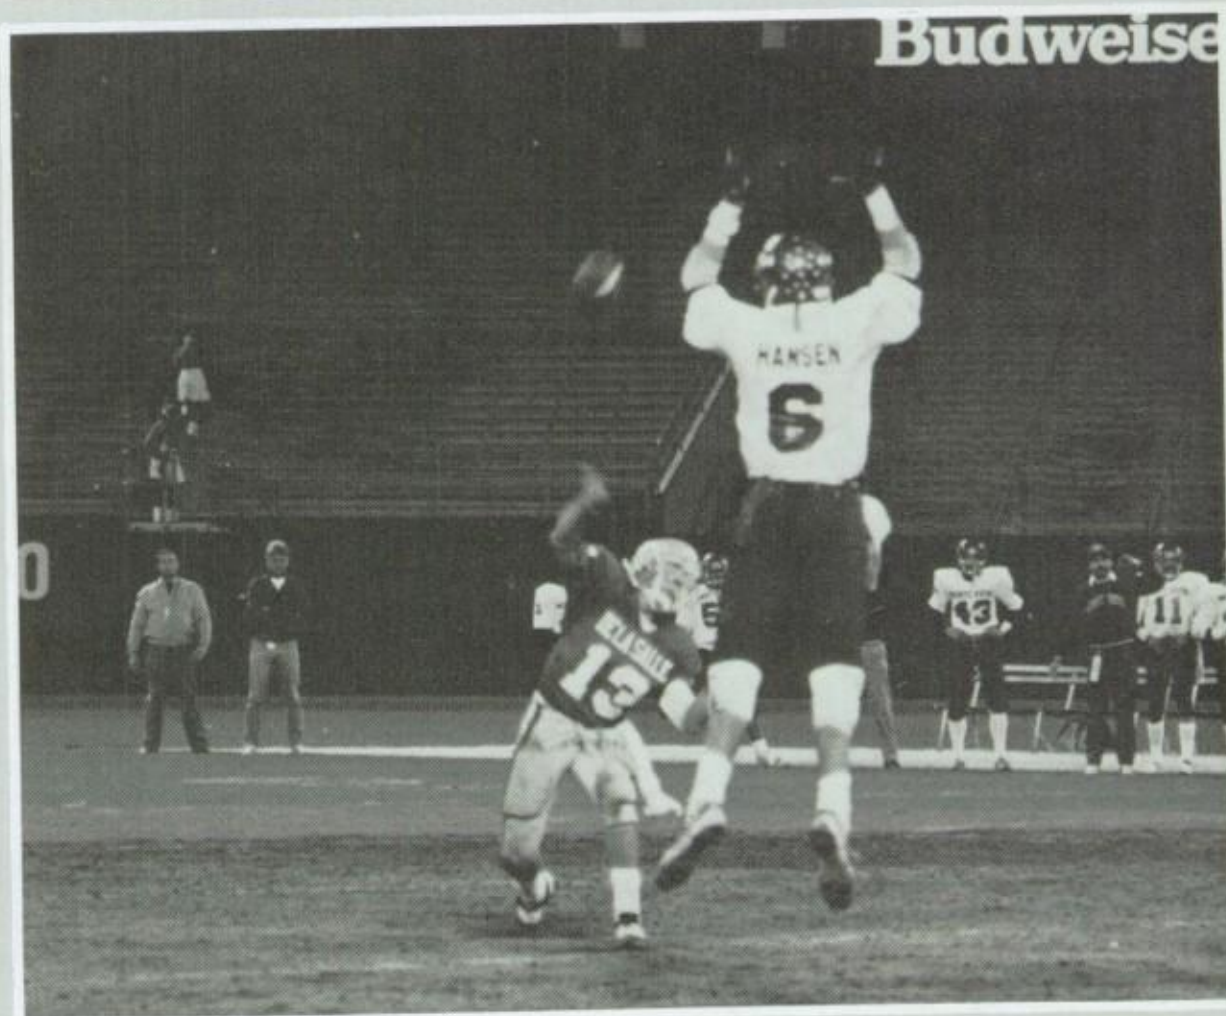

"It made me realize that there was more to our program than winning or losing." -Jim King

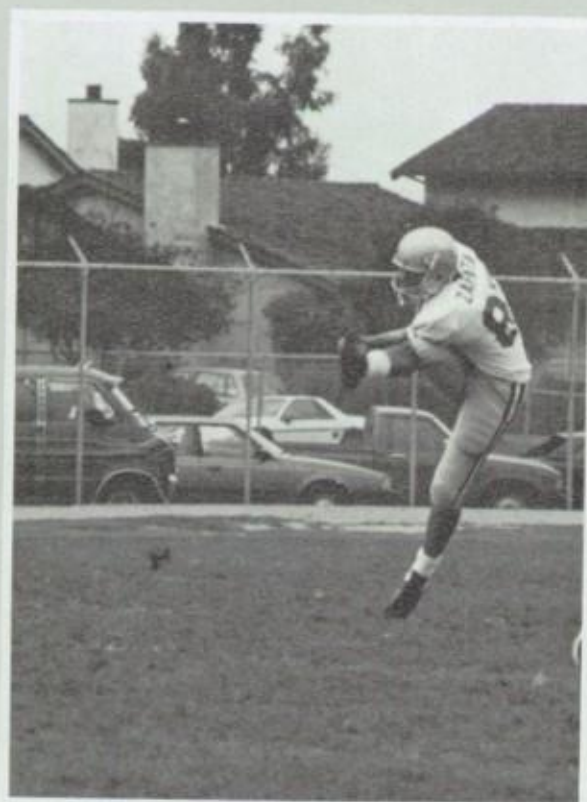

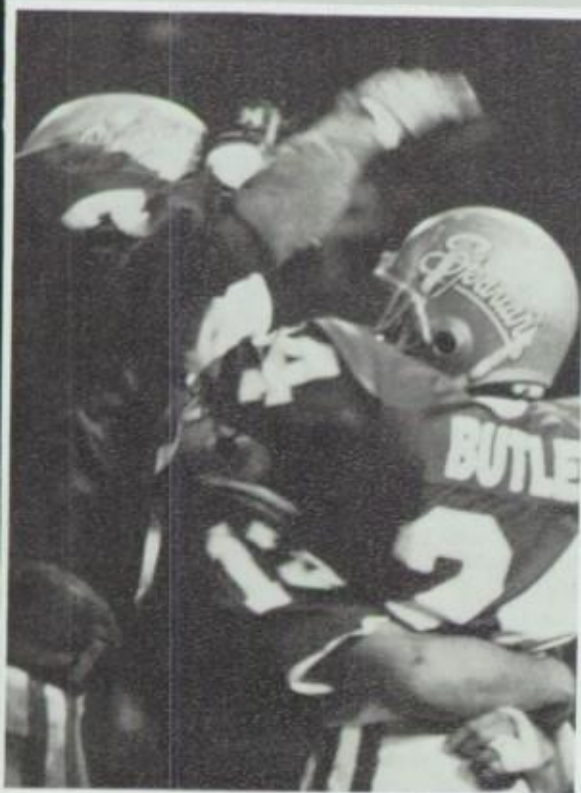

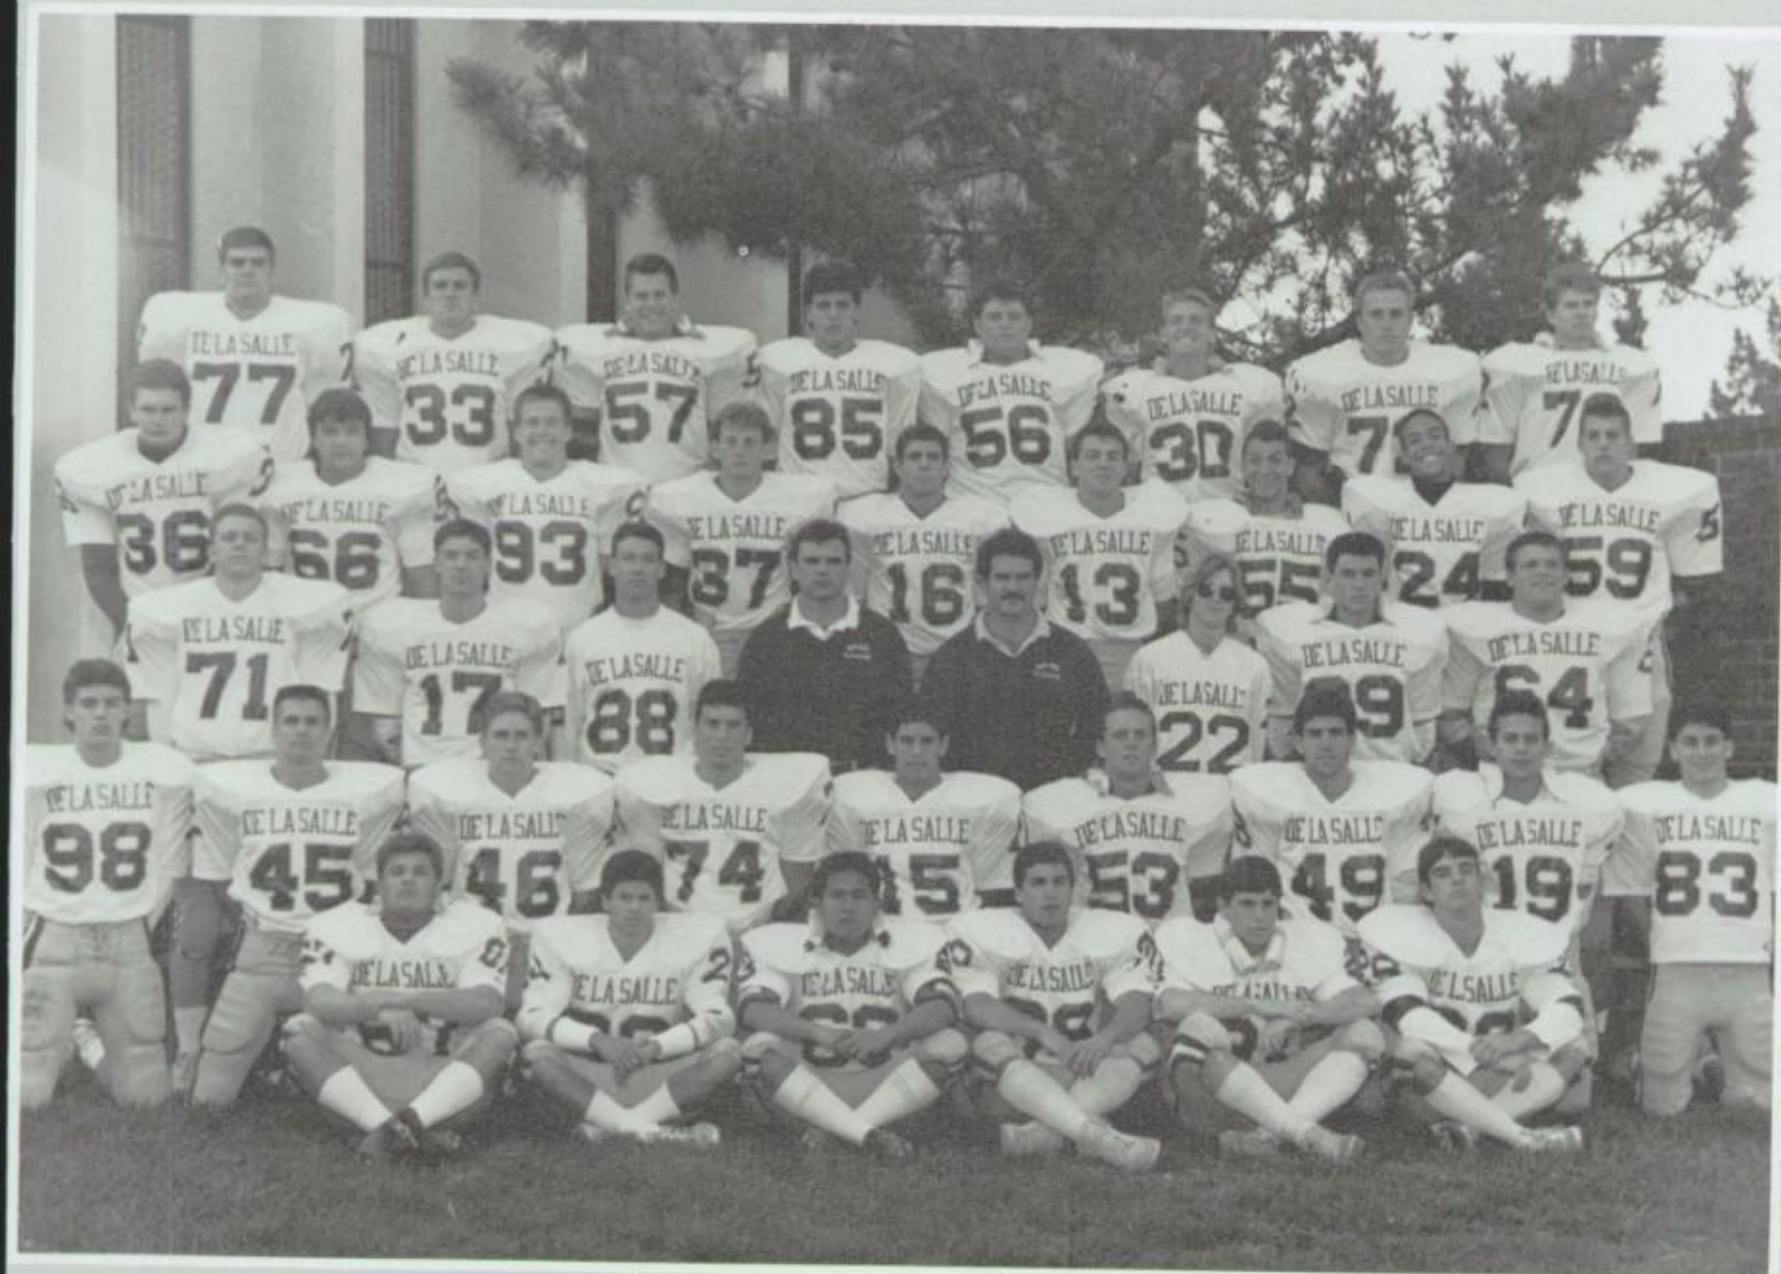

De La Salle's Varsity Football team had an outstanding season. Their only loss this year was the NCS 2A Championship against Monta Vista. The games leading to the championships were difficult, particularly Pinole Valley and Ygnacio Valley. Three players, Kirk Pulver, Brad Thompson and Jim Hinkley, were unanimously voted to the All East Bay Team.

Their excellent performance wouldn't be possible without the coaching of Bob Ladoceur, Terry Eidson, and Luke Wurzel. Bob Ladoceur's undeniable dedication, Terry Eidson's pride in special teams, and Luke Wurzel's inspired performance as a line coach combined to make the Varsity Football players a well disciplined, well instructed team.

J. V. FOOTBALL

HEIR TO A DYNASTY

Many of the J.V. hopefuls, who played freshman football the year before, thought they knew what "being a Spartan" meant.

Many gruelling practices came and went. The hard work paid off when we walked off the Owen Owens Field with a 19-14 victory over Pinole Valley and the G.B.A.L. title.

All this wouldn't be possible without the superb coaching, Coach Kelley, Coach Hayes, Coach Bowen, Coach Schuler and Coach McNiff gave us.

FROSH FOOTBALL

A far cry from the elite ranks of Varsity Football, the Freshman Football squad is nevertheless a group of hard working young men who strive to do their best. Under the competent leadership of Al Osello, they were undefeated this year.

In their own right, the Freshman Football players are heroes. Even though their games are less attended than those of the Varsity team, they still put forth their best effort, knowing one day that they, too, could be on the Varsity squad.

A PROMISING FUTURE

VARSITY WATER POLO

In its second season, the Varsity Water Polo team was much improved. Participation in DVC's summer league and numerous games with state and nationally ranked teams gave us valuable experience. The team's success can be measured not in wins and losses, but in the improved ability of the players and the improvement of the team as a whole. By the League meet, three players received Honorable Mention and the De La Salle Water Polo team had become a force to be reckoned with.

WATER WARRIORS

J. V. WATER POLO

Under the direction of Coach Steve Guthrie, the 1988 JV Water Polo team had great success. Even though our six starters were beginners, we were able to assemble an aggressive and competitive team. If you saw the progress of our season, you would be impressed. In the beginning, most of our players did not even know the fundamentals of the game. But in the end, we were able to score 15 goals against a single team. If you take our team and put it up against the best, we really compare.

SWIMMING FOR THE FUTURE

VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY

THE RUNNING MEN

Cross Country is a team sport in which every member must contribute to the success. Starting out Freshman year on the team gives a sense of how much Coach Joe Stocking wants perfection. Five miles a day, ten 440's, and strangulation are some of the workouts and the words said every day. The biggest reason for the team's success is because of Joe's attitude towards the team. He is able to make the runners feel like champions.

VARSITY WRESTLING

De La Salle's Varsity Wrestling team had a rather unique quality this year. The Varsity teams at De La Salle are composed mostly of Seniors. Though the wrestling team was Varsity material, they were unique in that they only had five Seniors on the team. This made them one of De La Salle's younger teams.

J.V. WRESTLING

Wrestling is a sport that dates back to the days of the Greeks and Romans, a test of strength and quickness in a series of sophisticated grapples to get the opponent into submission.

Although the times have changed, the ideas has not. Today, the 1988 De La Salle High School Junior Varsity Wrestling Team re-lives the competitive atmosphere that the Greeks and Romans once established over 2000 years ago.

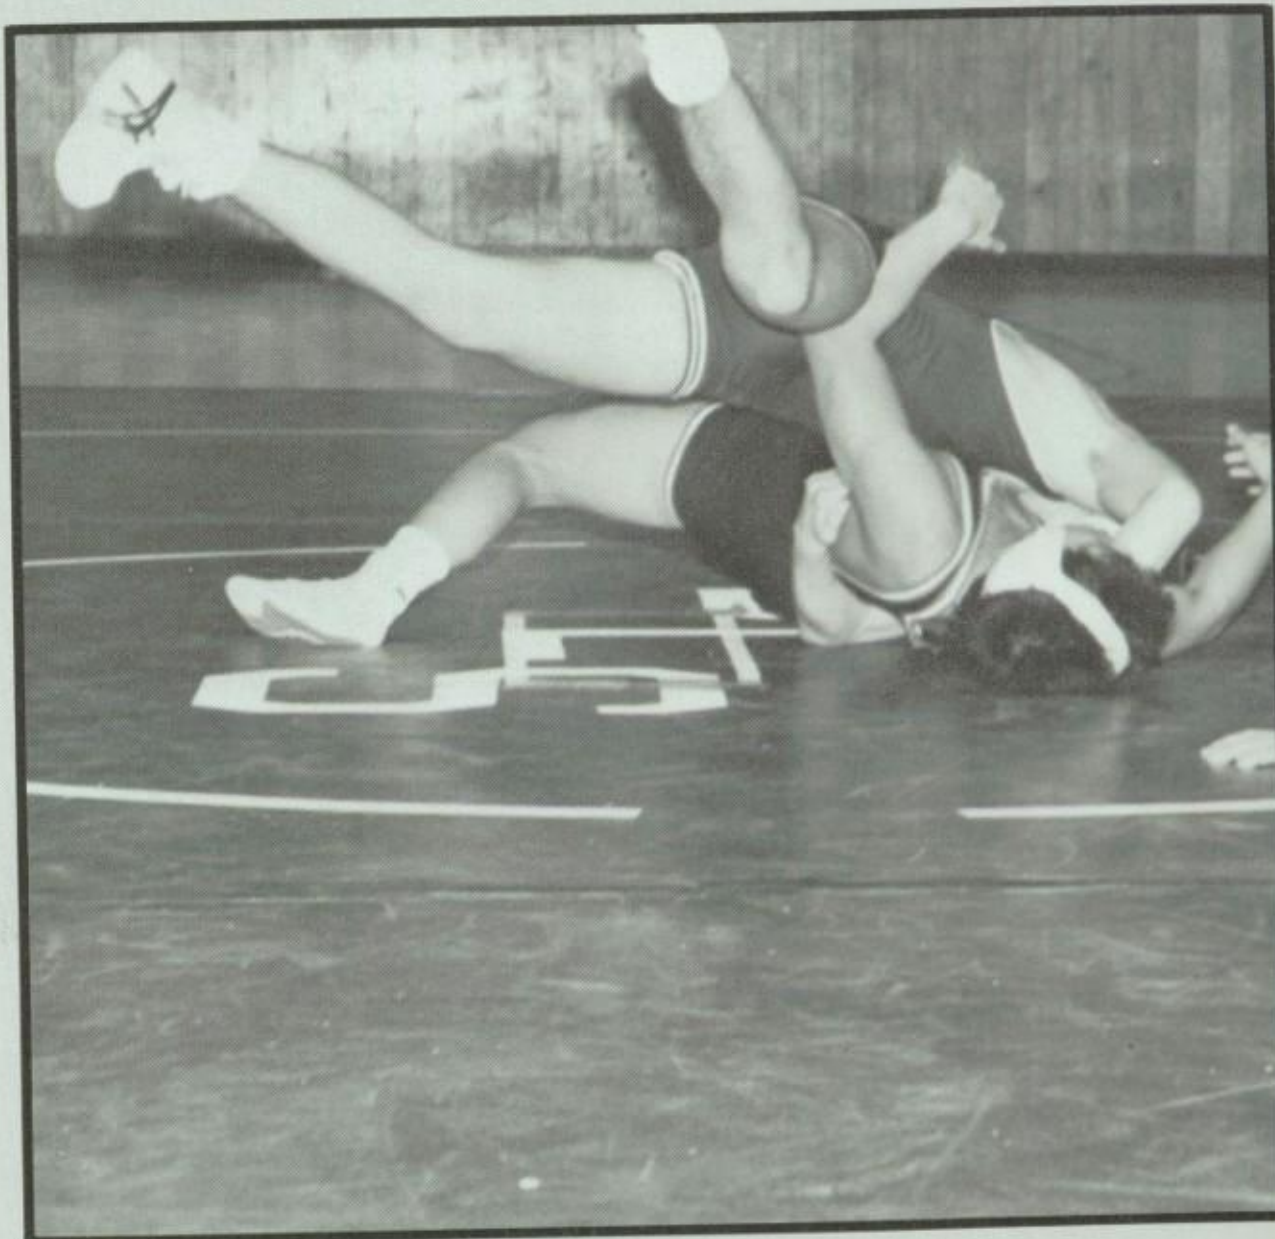

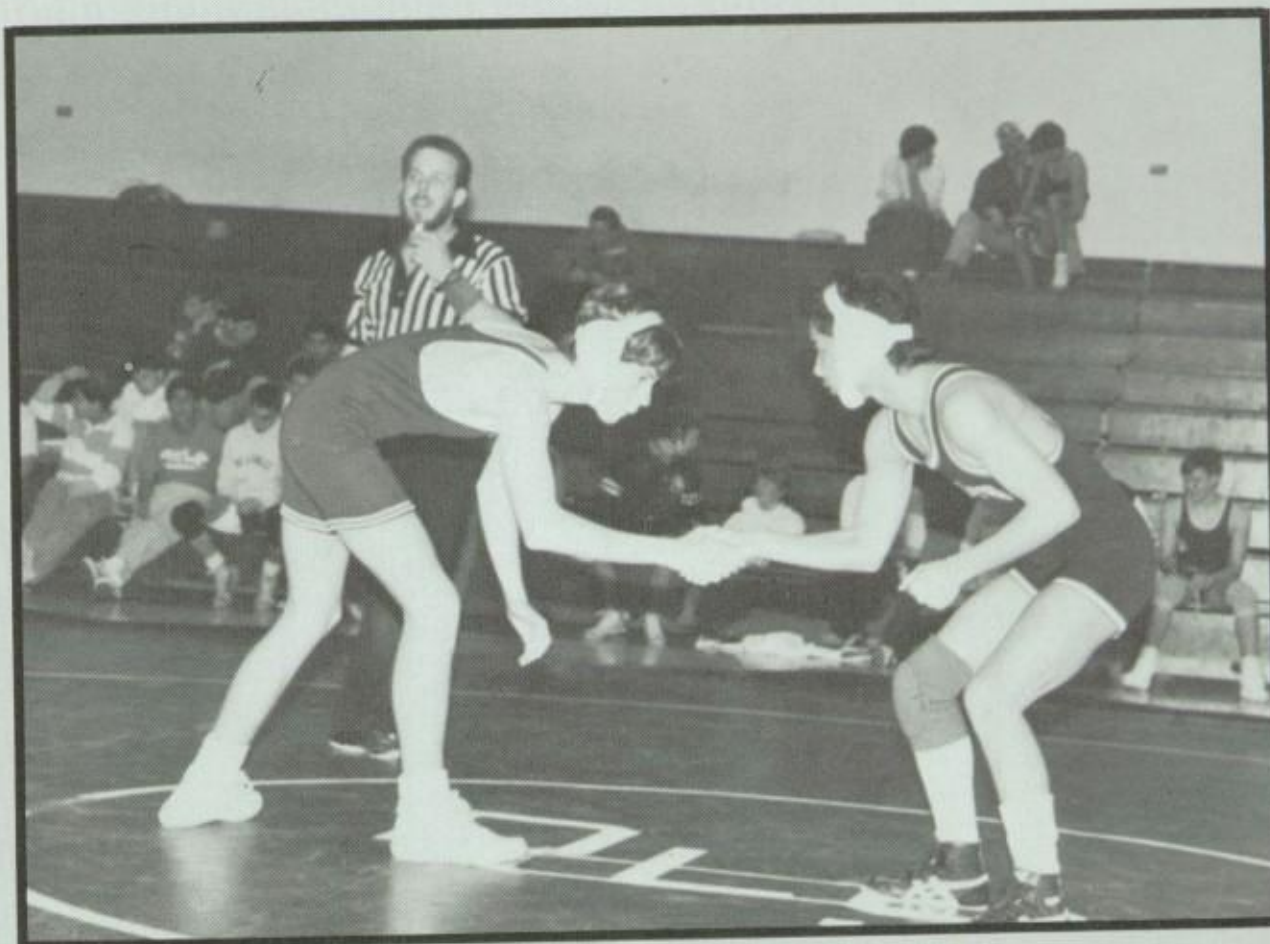

The Junior Varsity team are formidable in their own right. One day, we can be seeing them out on the mat, in Varsity matches, using the skills Coach Paul Brown taught them.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

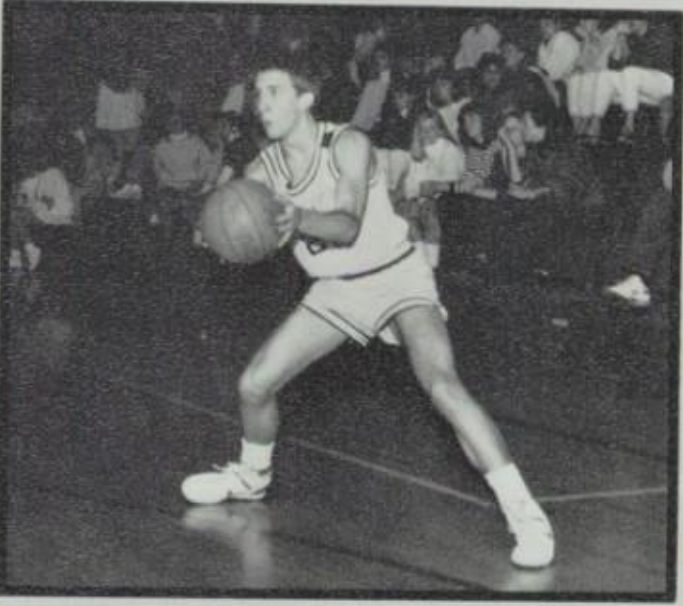

The Spartan Varsity Basketball Team started out the season by playing one of the toughest pre-season schedules in the Bay Area. The schedule included powerhouses like Bishop O'Dowd and St. Joseph's. Coached by George Nessman and Gary Stepan, the Spartans headed into their second year in the G.B.A.L.

The Spartans are a young team, with only five returning seniors, eight Juniors, and one Sophomore. Although the team is not particularly big, they more than compensate by being strong and unified.

J.V. BASKETBALL

This year the J.V. basketball team, under the watchful eye of coach Jim Olwell, dribbled their way to another successful season. It was a well-balanced team, with many returning players who are certain to bolster the ranks of the Varsity squad with seasoned veterans in the next year or two. Among the stars of the team were Jim Grimm at point guard, and Brent Barry dazzled the spectators with his shooting performance. John Pelayo and Brian Pytlewsky came on strong in post play, and Drew Barry and John West supplied the freshman firepower, exhibiting their ability to play well alongside the rest of the team. Big things are expected of these guys for the future, and they are certain to deliver.

SHOOTING HOOPS

The first step of every skill is fundamentals. The basic principles of basketball were taught to the Freshman Basketball team. Teamwork, fair play, and hard work are all important ideas drilled into the heads of these young players.

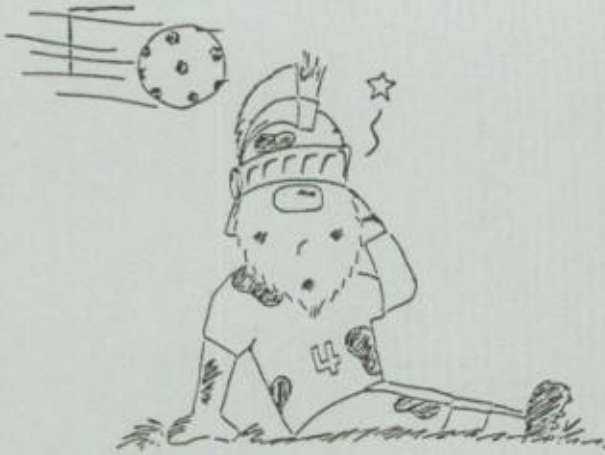

The Freshmen may not be expected to do well in their first year together but the freshman team learned to pull together and become a unified force for athletic talent. Their record and individual performances reflected this fact.

Shooting ... passing ... running ... fighting for the ball ... eluding the opponent ... teamwork ... Put it all together and you come up with De La Salle Basketball.

VARSITY SOCCER

As the 1988 Varsity Soccer season opened, many changes had come to face last year's GBAL champions. Still under the leadership of Coach George Sabbagha, the team was graced by the addition of two assistant coaches, Eric Tate (former JV coach) and graduate Tim Vest. On the field, the look has also changed, with captains Matt Fojut and Rob Schroeter leading the way for this talented young team. With their sights set on a GBAL championship and possibly the elusive NCS championship, the Spartan booters looked to a repeat performance in Spain to match their previous success in Belgium the year before. The team seems to be well on its way to returning to championship form.

Kicking It Around

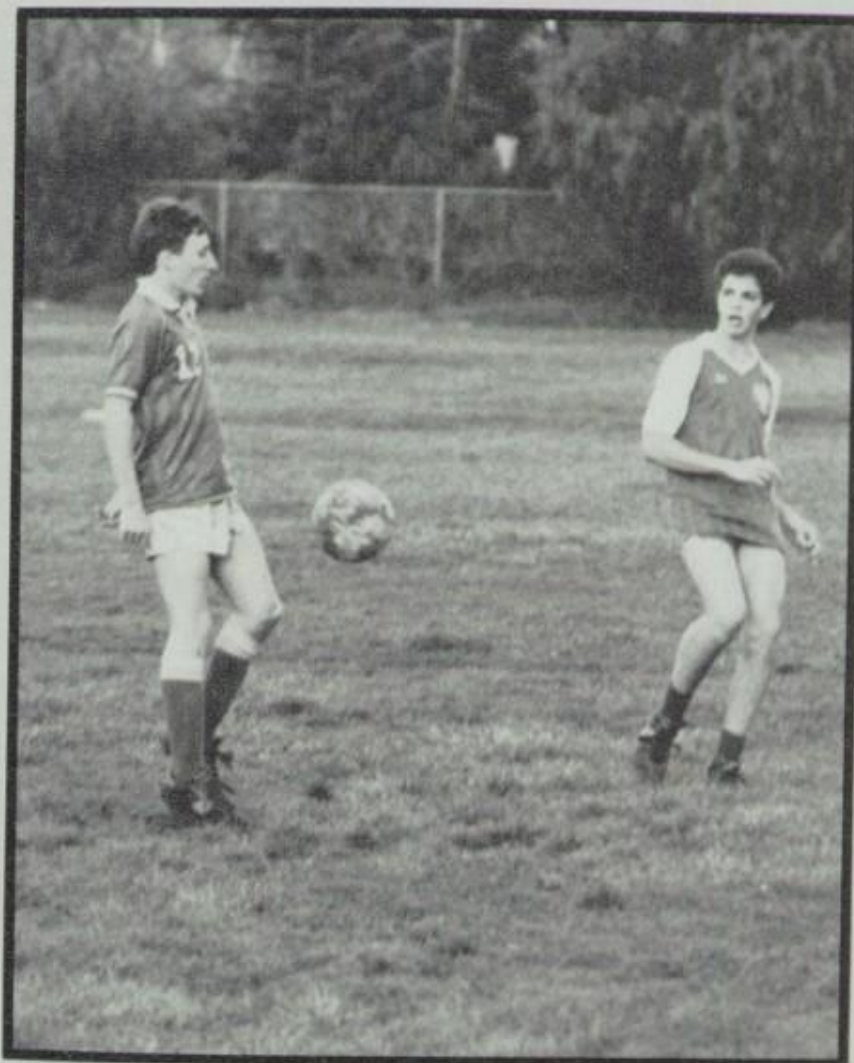

JV SOCCER

The Junior Varsity Soccer team had a rough start this season. Many of the schools we beat in football took their revenge on the JVs. They wallowed through the muddy fields of Alameda and survived the brawls against Berkeley High School. Under the leadership of their new coach, Coach Vella, the JV's learned to take their losses in stride, like true Spartans.

The day has finally come. All they learned, all they practiced, all they did. It all came together on that one day. All that is left ... is to do it.

Such thoughts ran through the heads of many Varsity Baseball players as they took the field for their first game. They knew each other after all the time they spent together, after all the drills, after all the running, after all the scrimmages. They proved they could work together. They proved they deserved to be called members of the Varsity Baseball team. They earned the right to be called champions.

Now they return, confident and seasoned, to begin the next step: the transition from fundamental to professional. This is achieved by even more rigorous practice, more sophisticated techniques, and more emphasis on perfection.

Now . . . look what it got them. The privilege of being called members of J.V. Baseball will soon translate into the privilege of being called members of Varsity Baseball. Watch for them.

-Geoff Gallagher

FROSH BASEBALL

For the players on the Freshman Baseball Team, 1988 was a chance to prove themselves to the coaches, and to each other. It was a year to take one giant step towards their path to being a member of the elite ranks of the Varsity Squad. They saw by their side young men who they called their teammates and their friends, with whom they spent many hours learning what it meant to be a Spartan. On that field, they dreamed of one day playing Varsity baseball. But for the time being, they had to prove themselves worthy of taking that first step. And in the course of time, they got the chance. The Freshman Baseball players showed the coaches that they could take that giant step with pride and courage.

Dedicated, determined, and diligent. These words describe the character of the 1988 Varsity Track team. Each member of the team poured their hearts into the season and never lost sight of their goals. Coaches John Crane, Jeff Johnson, Denni Guertin, and Bob Galiger helped guide the athletes to an excellent and productive season. When the individual succeeded, the team also succeeded. Our effort and dedication brought us to another year following the tradition of excellence at De La Salle.

The same principles hold true for the members of the JV Track Team. They, too, seek to improve themselves to the point of perfection. They, too, realize the value of practice in the name of self-improvement. Under the watchful eyes of Coach Crane and former DLS track star Dennis Guertin, these young men went beyond their limits to truly become the best they could be. And with the degree of dedication they exhibited, no one could say they did not succeed.

-Geoff Gallagher

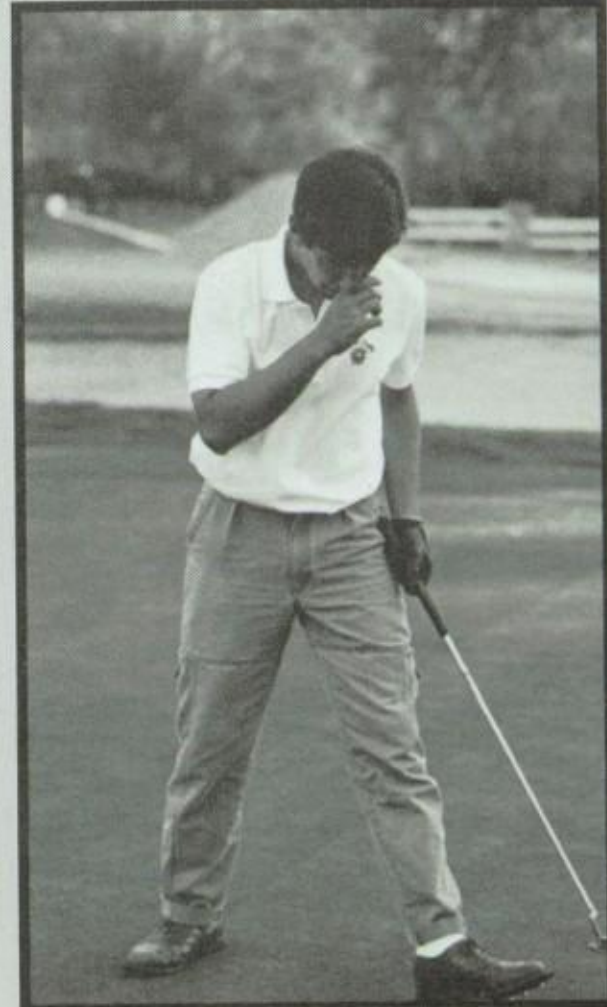

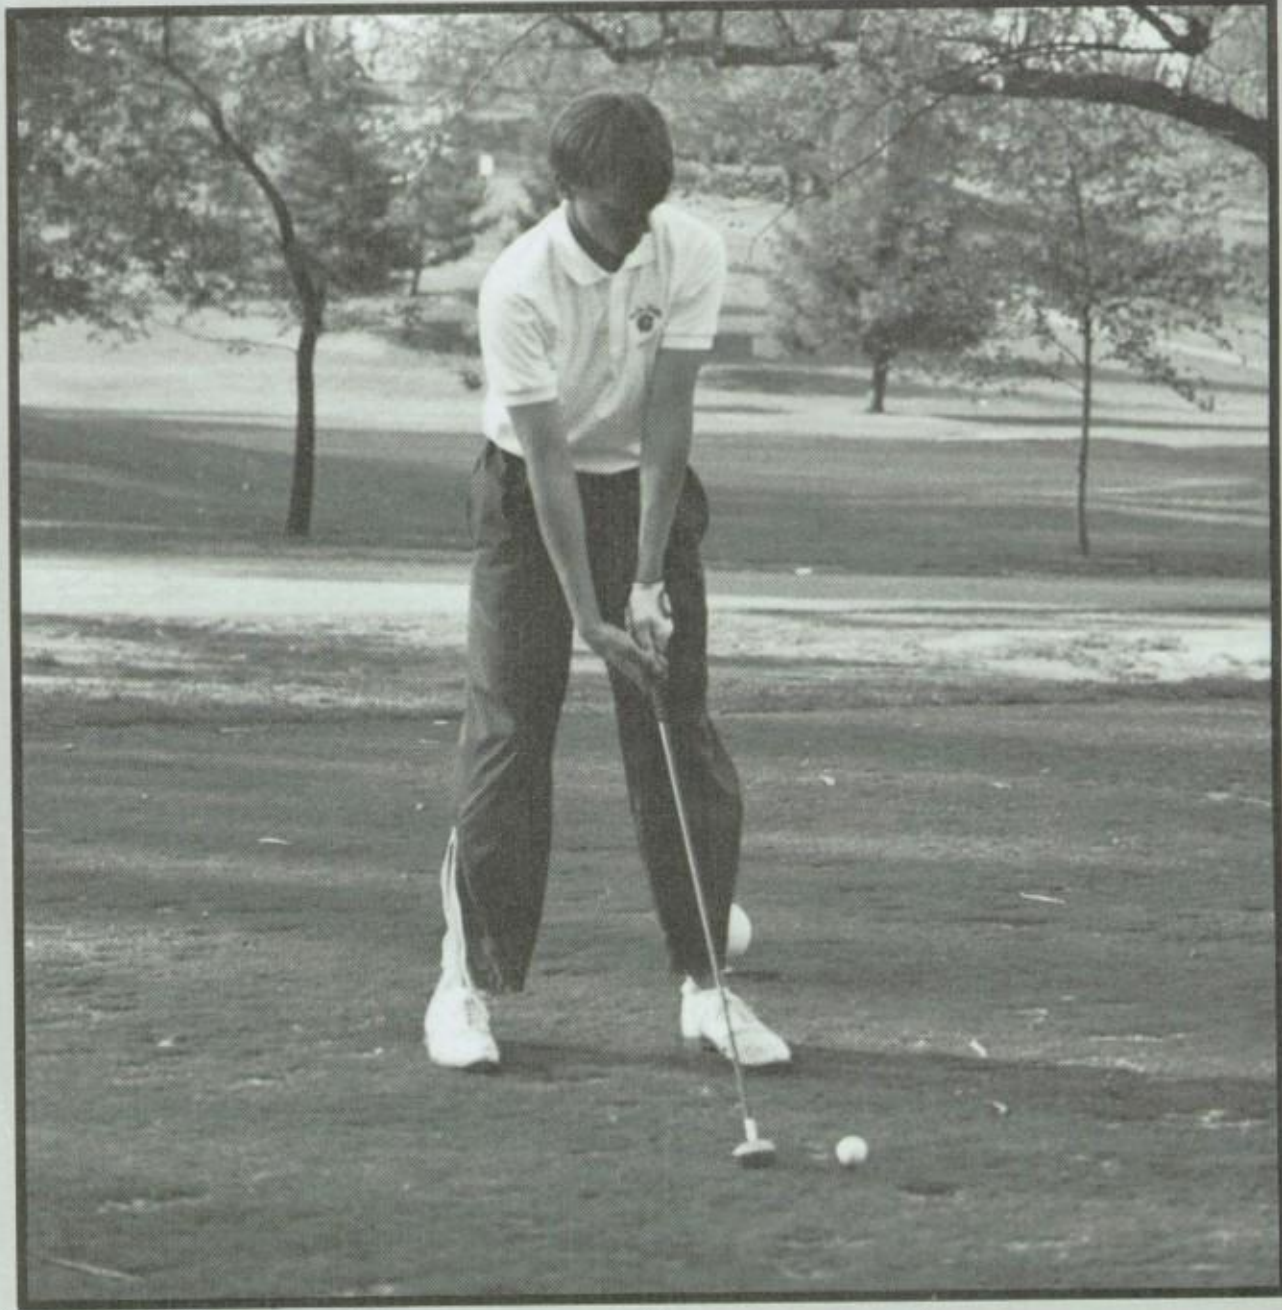

VARSITY GOLF

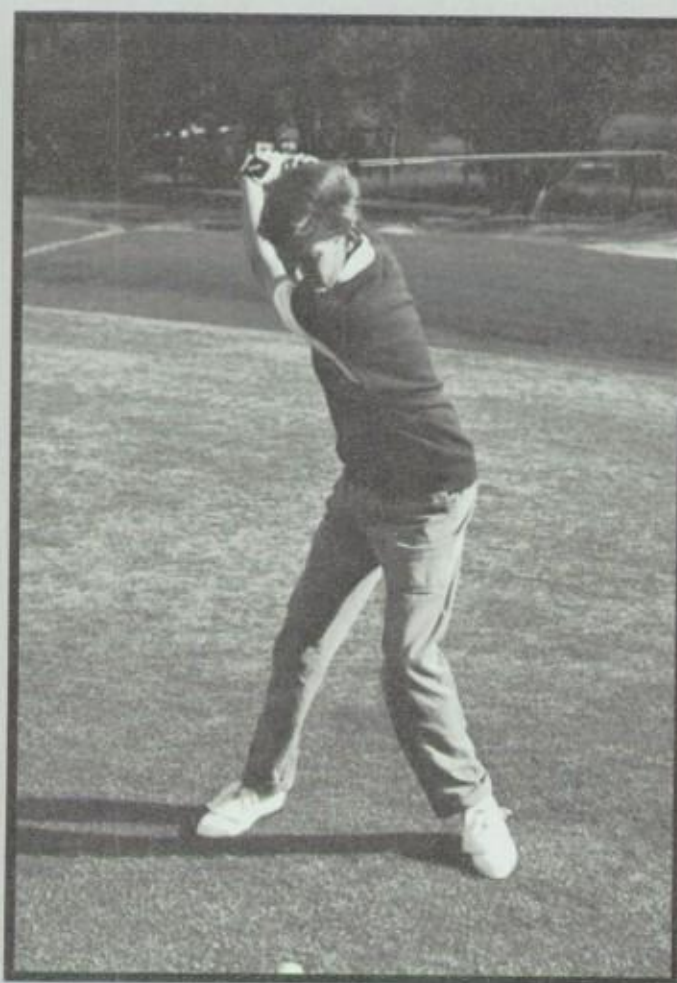

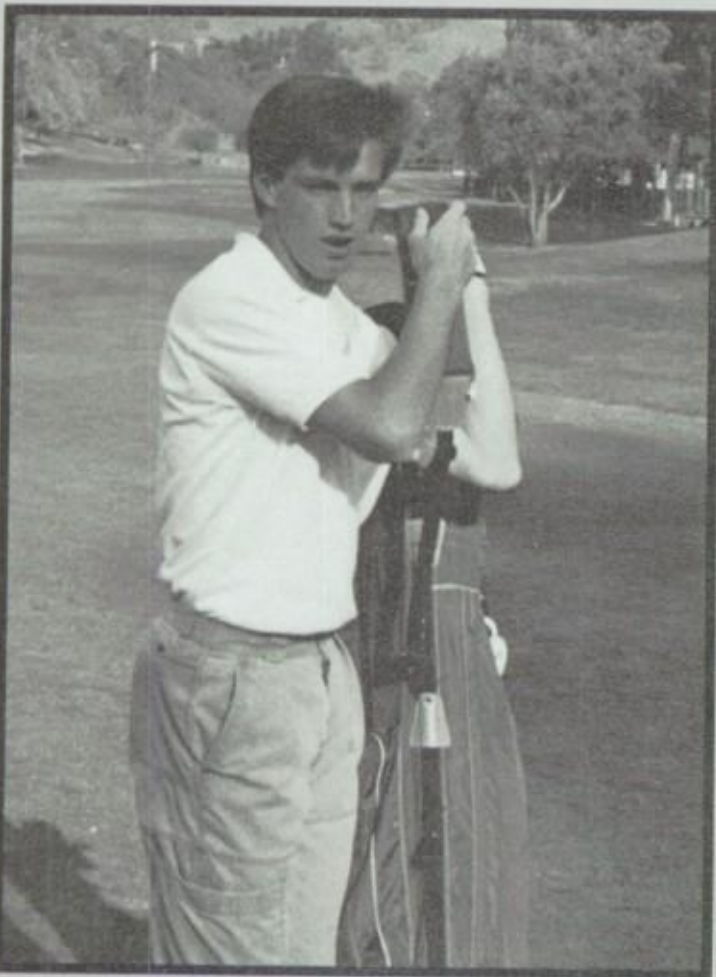

Many people are quick to write off golf as a sport that only physically inferior athletes participate in. However, football stars Dan Marino and Lawrence Taylor are frequently seen shooting on the green, as are actors Clint Eastwood and Jack Lemmon.

This picture of greatness is paralleled on the greens of Boundary Oaks and Diablo Creek, where the Masters stars of the future practice making their accuracy to the ultimate degree. These are the members of the Varsity Golf Team.

Coached by Charlie Noland, these young men strove to maintain the tradition of excellence that has become an integral part of De La Salle. Let the record show they succeeded.

JV GOLF

To write off JV Golf as a feeder team for Varsity Golf would be to do a severe injustice to the young men who put forth a good deal of time and effort to perfect their golf game. They, too, are competing to do the best they possibly can. They are at a different stage than the Varsity squad. They seek to use the fundamentals Coach Bob Sansoe taught them in the vast expanses of Boundary Oaks. They seek to become members of the Varsity team, but before they can take that giant step, they'll be out there playing JV first. They exemplify the "one step at a time" principle: they are learning to crawl before they walk. And one day, they will walk tall as members of the Varsity Golf Squad.

VARSITY SWIMMING

The 1988 Swimming and Diving team was led by many returning Varsity swimmers, making the team very successful. Led by a strong group of Seniors, and possessing several weapons on the Junior and Sophomore levels, the team worked throughout the season.

The coaches led the team through many tough practices, and as a result, many of the team members qualified for the NCS Championships and made a great showing at the meet.

Although water is not usually considered to be man's natural environment, the 1988 Swimming and Diving team would offer a differing opinion. Practicing twice a day for an hour and a half, sometimes more, may not seem like everyone's idea of fun, but this is the kind of dedication that is necessary to achieve success on the Swim team. Strength, skill, and determination are all essentials to make or breaking into the order of the Saber-Tooth Duck.

Led by Coach Steve Guthrie, the team's undeniable, strength, speed, and power were proved once again.

VARSITY TENNIS

Although tennis is not always seen as a physically demanding sport, many players will argue to the contrary. It is a game that requires coordination, precision, and speed. It is a thinking man's game in an athletic sense of the word.

Such is the philosophy of De La Salle's Varsity Tennis Team. An established squad of champions, these guys were always striving to make the difference between good and great. From razor sharp to ultra sharp, the degree of talent displayed on the clay courts was indescribable.

Serving It Up

JUNIOR VARSITY TENNIS

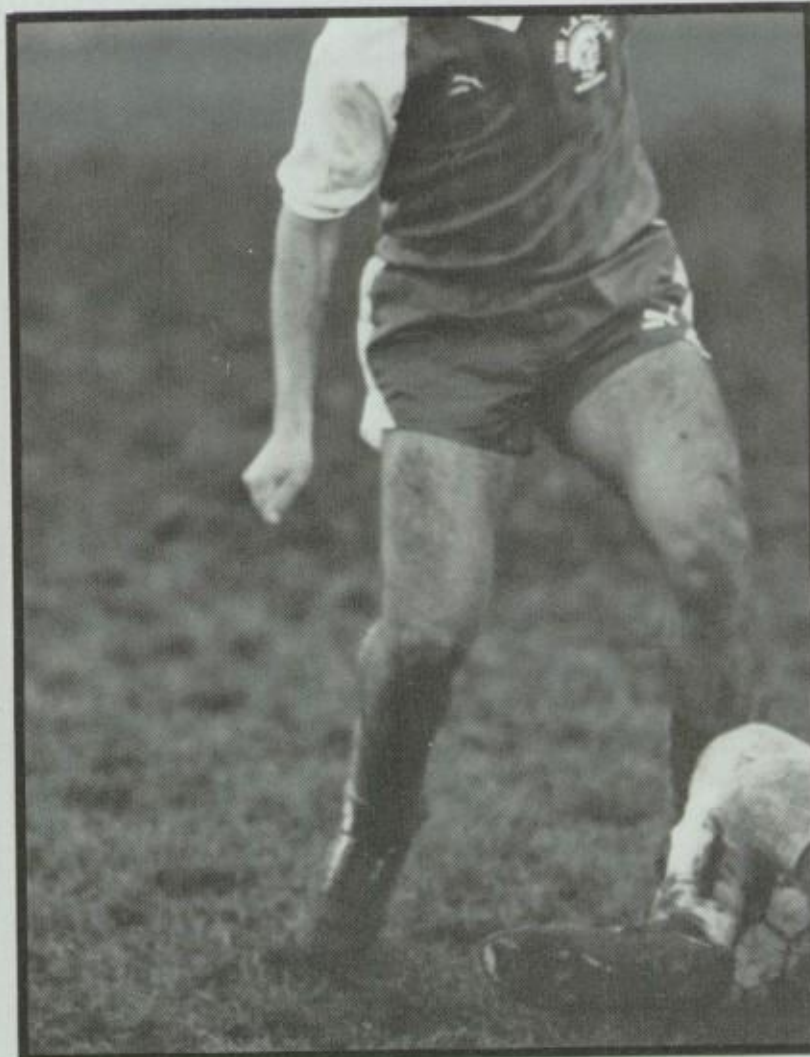

Tennis. The sport of the Europeans, brought to America. Here, it enjoys fame and prestige, and it is the breeding ground for intense competition. The members of the 1988 JV Tennis Team were eager participants in that competition, after having been drilled in the fundamental principles of the game of tennis by Coach Robin Bradford. Coach Bradford taught these young men not only how to serve, and lob, and overhand smash, but also how to work together and build their self-confidence by doing something they never thought possible.

So, tennis is not only an education in sports, but an education in oneself. And the members of the JV Tennis Team were pupils in both schools. Now, they show us the fruits of their labor.

ACADEMIC

DLS offers a diverse and challenging academic program. With the motto "What you get out of it is what you put into it," DLS offers college prep as well as life preparation courses. Geared to handle any skill level from remedial to advanced placement, DLS promises a nurturing environment with teachers who teach because they love what they're doing. It isn't uncommon for them to sacrifice their lunch or block 8 time to tutor their students. With the well stocked media center and supportive staff, DLS offers a near perfect environment for learning.

The student body has responded well with their consistent attendance. The events are well publicized and always attract a huge crowd. It is indeed an inspiring and impressive spectacle to watch these talented students play their hearts out for an enthusiastic crowd.

THEY'RE JUST STARTING

Being a freshman officer is an experience like nothing before. First, we take part in the Fall Festival, Homecoming and other such activities throughout the year. Second, the Frosh council paves the way for freshmen activities. We plan events such as the Frosh Picnic and the Frosh/Soph Christmas Dance. The Frosh Council is the backbone of all Freshmen activities.

Being on the Freshman Class Council also presents a challenge which has rewarding results. We take pride in the things we do and we try to present the class with the best times possible. It all pays off when we look back at what we had accomplished.

Indeed, being on the Freshman Class Council is a new and rewarding experience. We are all working together to make out first year at De La Salle, the best it can be.

YEARBOOK

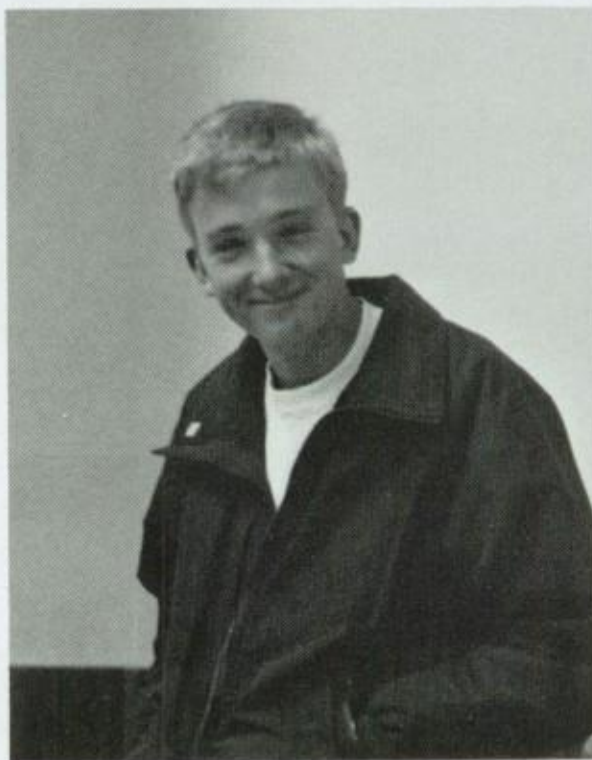

Gradually, after many long nights of typing, cropping pictures, drawing layouts, after all the pizza and Pepsi, the trials and torments, it's finally show-time. The De La Salle High School Yearbook has finally come to life. It went through many revisions, and survived many deadlines we came close to missing, and now . . . it's all over. The time we spent together taught us a lot about journalism, about each other, and about ourselves. We found out how tough we really are. We put ourselves through an ordeal few even consider, and we came through victorious.

The few . . . the proud . . . the Yearbook Staff. Join us if you dare.

FOND MEMORIES

Victor Andrew Nigro
October 20, 1969-September 15, 1987

Victor Andrew Nigro, the eldest of three children, was born on October 20, 1969 in Chicago, Ill., to Paul and Constance Nigro.

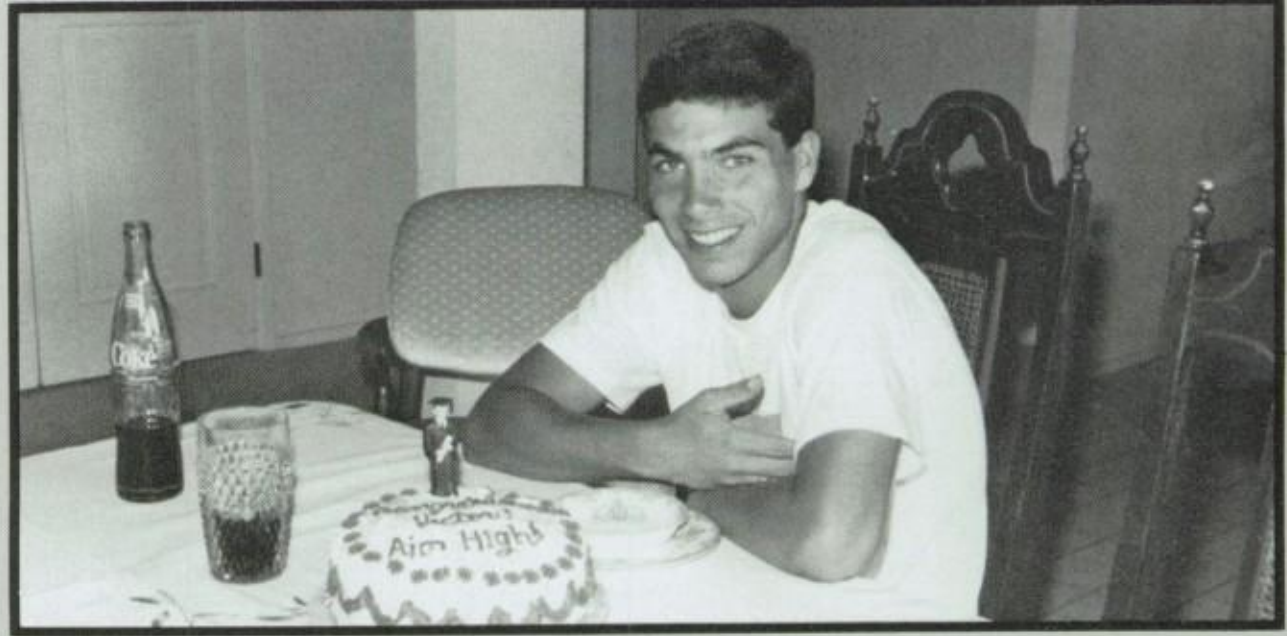

From the very beginning, Victor had a love for physical exertion, and loved to be active. It was very difficult to find him sitting still for very long. This attitude was evident in that he first learned to swim at the age of 3, and he joined his first swim team when his family moved to Walnut Creek, in 1979. His natural love for the water soon inspired him to help establish the first De La Salle water polo team, and his natural talent in the water helped him become the co-captain of the DLS swim team.

But Victor was not only talented in the water. In addition to playing baseball, basketball, and swimming, as well as running cross-country, Victor never let his love of sports interfere with his desire and determination to learn. True to his nature, Victor always challenged himself by taking the hardest classes possible. In his four years at De La Salle, Victor managed to take almost all of the honors classes offered. It was this determination that led him to become the president of the school's chapter of the National Honor Society. But he wasn't satisfied, so he ran for and was elected the secretary/treasurer of his senior class, just to keep himself a little busier.

All this while, Victor kept repeating the same dream over and over again, "... I want to fly, ... I want to be a pilot ...". From the time that he was sixteen, his big bright mind was figuring out exactly what he needed to do to be able to reach his dreams, and soon, he was on his way there.

In March of 1987, Victor was informed that he had received an appointment to attend the United States Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, CO.

What made Victor so special, was not that he was so good in everything that he did, but that he never gave up. This was so easy to see in his schoolwork and sports, but he even carried that attitude across when dealing with other people. In his four years at DLS, Victor got to know many people, and many people got to know him. But even though you could call him popular, and he was always surrounded by a group of people, Victor never forgot an old friend, or something that was important to another person.

It was easy to get to know him, he had an incessant charm and smile that would brighten your day in a flash. He was a little shy, but once he bared that sheepish grin of his, it was hard to keep him from finding his way into your heart. The most beautiful thing about Victor was the love he had for his friends and family, and how nice it felt to be able to say that Victor Nigro was your friend.

His relationships with others were the most important things to him, he would always end his notes with the phrase, "Friends forever." That's why it is so hard to say goodbye to such an amazing friend, because we know that somewhere Victor is still smiling and flying high.

Keep flying, Vic.

"Don't walk in front of me, I may not follow,
Don't walk behind me, I may not lead,
Walk beside me, and just be my friend."

Brother Bill Gibson
January 5, 1959-March 17, 1988

Brother Bill Gibson lived a full life, touching many other people's lives in significant and special ways, from his birth up until his death.

He entered the Brothers in June of 1956, and received his robe in August of that same year. Brother Bill made an example of service to others through his geographically diverse teaching career, one that spanned from 1960 to 1977. He worked in Memphis, Tennessee; Tulsa, Oklahoma; Westchester, Illinois; Jefferson, Missouri; and even in Rome as a secretary at the Mother House, due to his fluency in French.

As time went on, Brother Bill served as staff member at the Christian Brother's Retreat House in St. Helena, which was followed by a seven year period at De La Salle, which lasted from 1980-1987. There he was a counselor.

Brother Bill is remembered by his friends, peers, and family as an affable, understanding, compassionate man who always looked to improve himself.

Furthermore, he loved to travel, which his geographic variety in job locations illustrates.

Brother Bill is missed greatly by the De La Salle community, and he will remain in our prayers long after he has gone to meet the God he so selflessly served.

Don Scribner was born March 23, 1970. He attended St. Mary's Elementary School since the first grade, and was a member of the De La Salle Class of 1989.

All this time, Don was a generous, well-liked young man in the school community.

Don always worked hard, in school and in sports, and always strove to do his best. He entered De La Salle in 1985, where he quickly established himself as a big fan of athletics and a selflessly giving person.

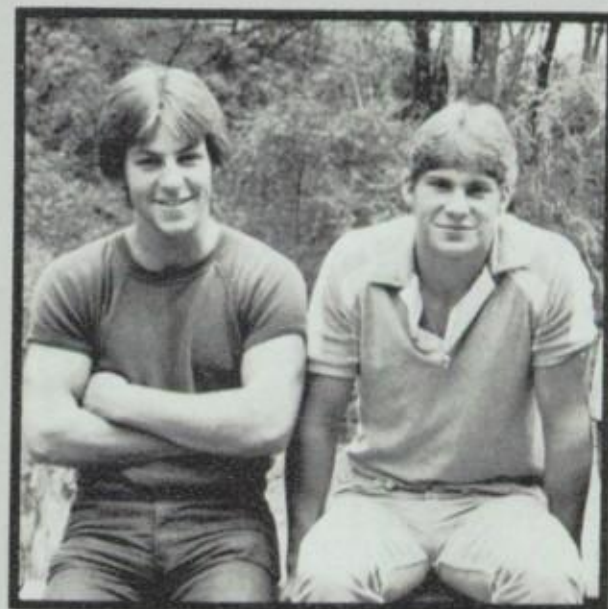

Don never missed a football game, and was a basketball team manager on all three levels. He was always there to cheer on his teammates, his classmates, and his friends. He always wanted to make people happy.

His contribution was invaluable. Don was a great source of inspiration and encouragement for all who knew him. Don will be sorely missed by his friends, family, and the De La Salle community as a whole.

I bore you with great joy, my son
I shared your happiness, your pain
I loved you endlessly
You provided my life with friendship
Understanding and love
My heart is dark now with the pain
Of you leaving me
I await our celebration of togetherness again soon my son.

Mom

Joe, My friend, you leaving has not been easy.
You left many that loved you because you made it so easy to do so. Your love and caring, your smile and laugh, they made us so happy.
We know happiness in you now and yes, we'll be together again, just keep the tunes playin'.
Love your bud,
Ray

You knew I would go on dancing, alone but somehow you knew how much I didn't want to and you danced with me. It amazes me how deeply I can be touched by the simplest thing by one person, but somehow, I think you did that a lot. I never did tell you how much that meant to me, now I never can, but somehow, I think you knew that too. After all, it was only one dance, one night.

Goodbye Joe, and thanks

Yearbook Staff: "We Finally Made It"

Yearbook: An Adventure in Frustration. Lost Art, Missing Copy, Late Nights. These are the essential parts of yearbook. This is what you hear when you are the editor and it will send a chill down your spine. Yearbook is quite demanding and sometimes maddening, but sometimes it will all seem worth it. I don't know when it will seem worth it but I hear it's coming soon. This yearbook is a piece of the people who worked on it so be gentle with it. When it seemed at times that we would get this book in August 1993, the Staff really came through. If they're not the best, they're very close. Thanks Dan, Reuben, Adam and Geoff for all the work. Good Luck Nate. "The Top Dog"

Sean Dugan, Editor-in-Chief

"Brr, it's cold in here. Who just blew through?"
 "Oh, Geoffrey."
 "Whatever happened to that money?"
 "Is the Rolodex done yet?"
 "Who's next on Reuben's hit list?"
 "Where are the photos now?"
 "Flesh for Lulu, are you kidding?"
 "Oh, Nate."
 "Nice room . . . really cozy."
 "Don't you wish you had a key?"
 "Yea right."
 "This caption will be subbed."
 "Are you sure you don't want to be our Yearbook Moderator?"
 "We want food, Nate."
 "You're not done yet."
 "It's three o'clock, do you know where your freshmen are?"
 "We're going to give you an Army tattoo, Reuben."

I came to this great place not knowing what the future would bring. Now I leave knowing a little more than I knew before. I have never touched and touched so many people but I still leave not knowing what the future will bring. This place and its people have made me grow in so many ways. For the better or worse it doesn't matter. What matters is that it has made an impact on me that will live with me for the rest of my life.

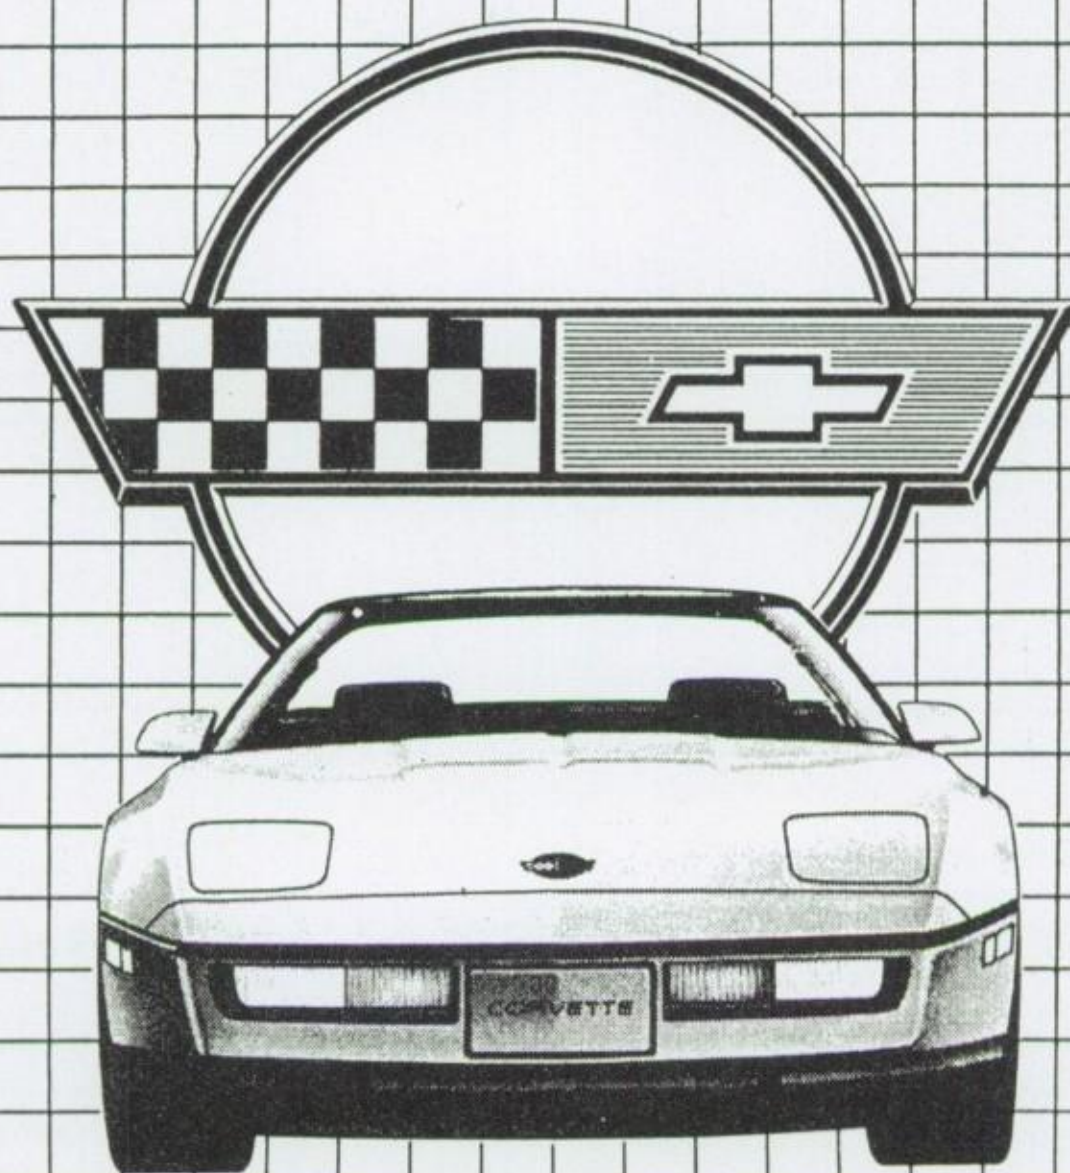

To my friends Ed, Annemarie, Stacie, Leslie, Theresa, Heather, Lisa, Dee, Jim, Matt, thank you for your friendship it has meant so much to me. One of us may change the world but I know one thing is that we will be friends forever. I love you all. Thanks Varsity Golf and Ski Club for all the good times. Mom, Dad, Lou, Jill, Bob, your support and love has brought me this far, I love you for that. I have lived the past, I am living the present, and the future is here to come.

MATT MIDDLEBROOKS

Thank you DLS, you helped me learn and grow tremendously.

It was I alone who entered De La Salle 4 years ago and I alone who leave De La Salle today. The Final result doesn't matter. To win or lose, be it good or bad or indifferent it makes no difference. What matters are the people whom you affect in the middle, the ones you help or hurt between the inspiration and conclusion. Take time to feel and live and make it matter, don't let it slip away. The end doesn't matter. Matt, Jim, Wacko, Jason, Griff, Tom P, Tom C, Corby, Andy, Joe Stocking, Mr. Abad, Mrs. Koch and all the girls, you are my inspiration, my strength, and my memory. You will live in me forever. Thank you and I love you. Live Long Spartans and stay loose.

4 years ago the record was put on.
Promising notes were heard by all who listened. With every revolution the needle scratched in a few notes here and there, and the sound became more refined.
It was a sweet melody but also a powerful song, sweetened by each conductor and powered by the masses that spawned the noise.

Now that it seems to climax, it's time to flip sides, time to play another song.
It must have been a sight to see. And as for the melody it will ring in my ears forever.
